THE INTERIOR

INTRODUCTION.

In response to an action of the congregation the committee has prepared the following pages. It seems strange to us that this work was not done many years ago, when many of the records now lost were still at hand and when the necessary facts for an accurate history might have been more easily collected. Now that a historic renaissance has come upon us which manifests itself in the celebration of anniversaries of historic events national, state and local, of the founding of congregations and the publication of their history and records, it was frequently intimated that the time for the publication of a history of Old Salisbury together with its congregational records and list of burials had now fully come and that there must be no further delay.

The preparation of this volume was directly suggested by the approaching celebration of the 170th anniversary of the erection of the first church. The importance of such a publication cannot be overestimated. A true history of any state, nation or people must instead of clustering around its military heroes, forts and battlefields, or its legislative halls and state policies, follow out the threads of its religious life and development, and follow the churches as they sprang up in one valley or settlement after another, the circuit pioneering of its early ministers, and note the general progress of piety and purity in its families. There is no valley or community in this broad land of ours whose history is not pre-eminently bound up with its venerable churches and well-filled graveyards. These were not only the first prominent sacred and venerated places in the early settlements, but have always been the centers to which the deepest and most earnest thoughts of men have tended and from which have gone out those moulding influences which made individuals, families, communities, states, as wealthy, worthy and peaceful as they are. The careful reader can find hidden in the records of our early church, made up of dates, names, records of birth, confirmations, marriages, deaths, the life of a community with its joys and sorrows, its trials, temptations and sins, its struggles, encouragement and progress.

The pioneer men and women of our church and state, who with sacrifice and tears, in travail of heart and body, in disease and in death made it possible for the church and state to exist, deserve to have their doings recorded and annals preserved. They were unconscious of the greatness of the work they were doing. In this they were like the saints before the judgment throne of whom the Saviour speaks in the 25th chapter of St. Matthew. They too had kept no record of their own deeds, but the Eternal Judge had not failed to have their minutest acts of kindness and love entered upon the pages of the Recording Angel's book. In the publication of this history we believe we reflect the judgment of the Almighty.

Henry Harbaugh in his introduction to the Life and Travels of Rev. Michael Schlatter beautifully says:

"To forget the past is to forget our mercies, and to forget our mercies is to forget God. The tree must ever draw life from its roots; the strength of a stream must ever be replenished from its fountains: so is the nation and the church, in the divine order, ever dependent for vitality and vigor on its past history. The trials and triumphs of the past are as promises to stimulate us in the present, and as pledges to give us hope and courage for the future.....

"For a time the sayings and doings of our ancestors may be left to the preservation of a grateful remembrance, and to the unrecorded traditions which parents hand down to their children. But such traditions soon grow dim and uncertain, and at last vanish away. As the setting sun leaves first a glory, then a twilight, and at last darkness: so the deeds of the past, as they sink beyond our personal recollections, are first bright, then dim, and then gone!—and, too late, we mourn that we have no picture of the faded beauty. Our parents relate to us stories of the days of our grandparents; but our grandparents themselves are gone, and tell us no more what was before them.

"This is our case as a church in America. The grandparents are gone, the fathers are going, the history of their toils and achievements is beginning to swim in half-uncertain twilight, and there is but barely time to record the doings of their life's day before the oblivious night sets in, when records and traditions will no more recognize one another."

What Rev. Harbaugh said more than fifty years ago, concerning the history of the Reformed Church in the United States, may be repeated to-day with even greater significance, relative to the history of the Old Salisbury Union Church. It cannot be uninteresting even to strangers and certainly not the children of those who worshipped or to those who still worship at the old spot made sacred by the memories of many years, to be presented with a picture, dim and imperfect though it may be, of the organization and development of the Union Congregation of Western Salisbury.

Organization of Congregation.

To the territory drained by the Cedar Creek and Little Lehigh the Indians gave the name of Macungie (Maguntehe), signifying the feeding place of the bears. In this strange Indian name there lurked the prophecy how that, under careful cultivation this feeding place of the Kings of the Forest should blossom like the rose, bring forth golden grain not only ten or twenty fold, but sixty and a hundred fold, and become almost a paradise for a later race. Against the constantly increasing stream of German immigrants which began to flow into Pennsylvania from the impoverished Palatinate and Switzerland, in 1683 and continued until the beginning of the Revolutionary War the South Mountain for a time at least acted as a barrier. Soon, however, some scaled its heights and looked upon the great valley beyond, which with its dense forests, broad meadows and swift flowing streams seemed to call for occupation. Prior to 1730 a number of adventurers from Oley and Goshenhoppen crossed the mountains and settled in the regions of Maxatawny and Macungie, the first of whom is said to have been Peter Trexler, of Oley, who settled at what is now known as Trexlertown probably as early as 1723. Other settlers soon followed in such numbers that in 1732 it was deemed advisable to have a public highway laid out from Goshenhoppen through Upper Milford to Jeremiah Trexler's tavern in Macungie. The first white child born in Macungie region of whom we have any record was Ludwig Andreas, born September 29, 1734, who was of the Reformed faith, and probably a son of Rudolph Andreas and his wife Anna Catherine, nee Braun, who migrated from Boehm, near Mannheim, in 1730 and settled in Macungie. A daughter, Barbara by name, later married Jacob Ehrenhard, one of the founders of Emaus.

It is a great misfortune that no records of the founding of the Salisbury congregation have come down to us. Either none were made or having been made have been either lost or destroyed. We must therefore depend entirely on tradition and such contemporary letters or documents as will throw light on its organization and early history. The first of these contemporary documents which throw lights on the founding of the Salisbury Reformed congregation is a letter by Rev. John Philip Boehm, to the Synods of Holland, dated October 18, 1734. (See minutes of Costus, pp. 1-5.)

The letter opens thus: "True and desired statistics of the German Reformed Congregations in Pennsylvania." After mentioning the congregations of Falkner Swamp, Skippack, Whitemarsh, Philadelphia, Germantown, Conestogo, Tulpenhocken, and Goshenhoppen, together with the number of communicants, he adds, "In addition to the above mentioned congregations there are several places which need to be provided for as much as possible," these are: Oley and also Saucon, in whose neighborhood are Macungie, Maxatawny and Great Swamp, where notwithstanding their being scattered very far apart yet a considerable number of people can come together. As the population increases other congregations may be organized; for the present, however, although with much difficulty, they can suitably be served by four ministers in the following manner." Rev. Boehm then goes on in his letter to suggest that one minister serve the congregations in Philadelphia and Germantown, a second those at Falkner Swamp, Skippack, and Oley, and a third those in Conestoga and Tulpenhocken, and then adds: "A fourth minister would be greatly needed at Goshenhoppen, about thirty-six miles from Philadelphia. He might conduct services there every three weeks and use the rest of the time to feed the poor sheep at the end of the wilderness in the above Saucon, Macungie, Maxatawny, and Great Swamp, who thirst for the hearing of God's word as dry earth for water. Many people from these regions have already been to see me in great sadness, and complained of the pitiable state of their souls. There were also some who being able to make their journey have come at various times to communion in the congregations entrusted to me at Falkner Swamp, a distance of certainly twenty-five to thirty English miles, and brought children for baptism, which journey, however, is impossible for old persons and weak or pregnant women, so that it is not to be wondered at (especially when one remembers that there are children who for lack of a minister cannot be brought to baptism until they are several years of age) that my heart breaks and my eyes are full of tears about this condition. But I cannot accomplish this work alone, for my years are beginning to accumulate and my poor body is getting feeble, since I must not only make long journeys and preach, but also because these poor people are not able to support me, and I must support my large family with manual labor."

In response to the many urgent calls for help from the helpless brethren in Pennsylvania the Reverend Fathers of the Reformed Church in Holland sent the Rev. Maurice Goetschi, of the Canton Zurich, Switzerland, to Pennsylvania to organize congregations. He died on the day of his arrival at Philadelphia, but his son, John Henry, then only seventeen years of age, who had, however, been a student for the gospel ministry, accepted the challenge from the people of Goshenhoppen, Macungie, Maxatawny, etc., and began to preach in houses, barns, groves, and it was in this capacity that he served the people of the Macungie region. In 1739 he retired from his extensive field for the purpose of continuing his studies.

Erection of a Church.

During the year of 1741 a small log church was erected on or near the site of the present edifice. It is said that the seats consisted of hewn logs and that it contained neither stove or wooden floor. The Rev. John William Straub was the pastor at the time of its erection. To him was also the deed for two acres granted by Henrich Roth and Johann Martin Bamberger, December 15, 1743, the deed according to quotation in the "Skizzen aus dem lecha thale." (Page 72.)

"Ein aufrichtig redlicher kauf und verkauf ist getroffen und geschlossen worden zwischen Hennrich Roth und Johann Martin Bamberger eines Theil und Johann Wilhelm Straub, Prediger dahier an der kleine Lecha, und dasigen aeltesten, etc., wir begeben uns nun dieses Platzlein (2 acker fur 20 schillinge) mit aller gerechtigkeit auf hiesiger landesfreiheit, an die schon wirklich erbaute Reformirte, Evangelische, Lutherische Kirche, Gott zu ehren unser und unserer nachkommlingen Seelen Heil und Wohlfart."

Moravian Episode.

Hardly had the small log church on the banks of the Little Lehigh been completed and a congregation organized when a great controversy arose in the Reformed churches in Pennsylvania which for a time threatened her separate existence. It soon spread among the Lutheran congregations of the colony and also very materially affected the smaller denominations and sects. Rev. James I. Good says: "It came at first in the guise of union but soon developed into disunion." It was an attempt to unite all the various denominations and sects among the Germans in the province in one body, known as the Congregation of God in the Spirit. Pennsylvania at this time was a perfect Babel of denominations and such a union was the hope of many a pious soul. The colony at this time was full of infidels, scoffers and self-righteous saints; the humble, contrite and pious were few, and in addition divided by denominational lines. These, says Rev. L. T. Reichel,¹ when they perceived how vital religion was disappearing more and more, and how the different religious associations, instead of bearing with each other in Christian charity were finding fault and quarreling with each other, earnestly prayed for the dawn of a spiritual day. At the house of Christopher Wiegner, at Skippack, a number of earnest men from various communities, representing different denominations, frequently met for mutual edification and to take counsel together for the propagation of piety. This circle in the course of time became known as the Associated Brethren of Skippack. A central committee, consisting of Henry Antes, John Bechtel, George Siefel and Christopher Wiegner, met every four weeks for exchange of reports and consultation. The coming of the celebrated revivalist Whitefield to Pennsylvania greatly stimulated the religious life of the Germans in the colony, especially in Skippack, Frederick and Oley. By far the most influential member of the Skippack Brethren was Henry Antes, the Reformed Elder of Falkner Swamp, in whose house Whitefield preached in 1740.

When Count Zinzendorf, the head of the Moravian Church in Europe, arrived in Philadelphia, in December, 1741, he soon learned of the pious Elder Antes and visited him before coming to Bethlehem. Antes then explained to him his plans for the union of churches, to which Zinzendorf gave his approval.

Rev. J. S. Dubbs¹ says: "Antes therefore issued his call for a meeting of Christians, to be held on New Year's Day, 1742, in Germantown." It was to be held not for the purpose of disputing with one another, but to confer in love on the important articles of faith in order to see how near all could come together in fundamental points. It was this meeting that led to the organization of the "Congregation of God in the Spirit."

At this first meeting or conference, of which twenty-seven were held from 1742 to 1747, eight denominations were represented by thirty-six delegates, and it seemed as if this well-meant plan would prove very successful. Evangelists were sent into the remotest settlements in the province and into the adjacent colonies. Missionary activities were begun among the Indians; circles of Brotherhoods were established to the number of thirty-one, exclusive of the stations among the Indians, the most important of these besides Bethlehem and Nazareth were at Philadelphia, Germantown, New Province, New Hanover, Oley, Macungie, (Emaus) Tulpenhocken, Heidelberg, Bethel, Lititz, Muddy Creek, Donegal, Hebron, Muhlback, and York. The Synod or conference which met at Lancaster, December 6, 1745, was composed of sixty-two Lutherans, seventy-seven German Reformed, seven Moravians, two Siebentagers, one Separist, and three Indians. The purpose of these circles or troupes was to organize the devout Christians in societies without separating them from the denominations to which they previously belonged.

At this Synod the following resolution was adopted: "We will carefully guard against any one favoring the idea that this or that denomination, this or that Church is the Church of Christ to which he must belong in order to be saved; for though we cheerfully acknowledge the happiness of our times, in which the Saviour collects His children into congregations here and there, still we firmly believe that there are children of God among the different denominations of various nations of whom but few may possibly be known to us." In commenting upon this union movement of Zinzendorf, Rev. J. S. Dubbs, D.D., says:² "The congregation of God in the Spirit was so exalted in its purpose that we might be inclined to regret its lack of permanent success. The reasons for its failure are, however, not difficult to determine. In the first place the personal influence of Count Zinzendorf was too pronounced. That he was thoroughly sincere could not be doubted; but his forms of speech appeared new and peculiar.

1. Reformed Church in Pennsylvania, Page 114.

2. Reformed Church in Pennsylvania, Page 183.

The mystics first withdraw, while those of the Reformed and Lutheran who attended the conferences became fully conformed to the Moravian type of piety and devotion. To reach a similar result with the great multitude to whom such conditions were entirely strange, would have demanded long and patient training and this was evidently impossible."

Some of the ministers of both the Lutheran and Reformed denominations attacked in sermons and pamphlets this union movement of Zinzendorf as a hidden method of enticing their members into the Moravian Church. Disputes as to the ownership of church properties soon arose which became very bitter and in several instances resulted in fist fights.

Michael Schlatter and Organization of Coetus.

In 1746 Rev. Michael Schlatter, of St. Gall, Switzerland, arrived in Pennsylvania with definite instruction from the Synod of Holland to organize the Reformed adherents into congregations and charges and to unite themselves into a Synod. He visited the different German settlements in the Province and also those beyond its borders and found upward of forty-six congregations to whom he explained his commission and plans. He was kindly received and everywhere the congregations acceded to his plans. He organized the various congregations into sixteen charges and united them into a Synod. Consequently the Reformed element largely withdrew from the Congregation of God in the Spirit.

In his diary¹ he says: "As far as I can judge, I have come to this country, through God's wonderful providence, just in time with my emphatic instructions, which everywhere produced good results and great joy. Since the Lord's vineyard lay in miserable devastation I came at such a time that people could justly say when the need is greatest, God's help is nearest. Because it all looked as if the 'Herrnhutters' would quickly play the master. But since I am here about 100 people have come back and I have not heard that they have gained since that time a single disciple."

In 1748 the Lutheran congregations throughout the province, through the efforts of Rev. H. M. Muhlenberg, organized themselves into a Synod similar to that of the Reformed congregations. The result of the organization of both a Reformed and Lutheran Synod was that those congregations, which had been served by Moravian pastors, either joined their respective Synod or entered into closer connection with the Moravian Church, as was the case of the congregation at Emaus.

The year following the erection of the first church at Salisbury such a circle was organized in Macungie (Maguntse) (Emaus) and in the fall of the same year, 1742, a small log church was erected at what is now the old Moravian burial ground. The connecting link between the Salisbury Reformed Church or congregation, the circle at Emaus, and the congregation of God in the Spirit is found in Sebastian Knauss and his brother John Henry, sons of the Ludwig Knauss who in 1734 signed the appeal of Rev. Boehm. They had taken up lands in the vicinity of Emaus and were members at Salisbury. Sebastian learned the trade of wheelwrighting with Henry Antes, already referred to as the pious Elder, where he was spiritually benefitted. It was through the efforts of Sebastian Knauss and Henry Antes that Zinzendorf came in the fall of 1742 to the Macungie region and preached to a large company in the house of Jacob Ehrenhard, a neighbor to Sebastian Knauss.

Ehrenhard was a native of Worms and of the Lutheran faith. The fame of Zinzendorf had preceded him to America and it created quite a stir among the settlers of the Macungie region when it was announced that the Count was coming to visit them and would preach in the house of Jacob Ehrenhard. He made a deep and lasting impression upon the settlers who requested that he or some one else from Bethlehem should preach to them more frequently. The only pastoral care that these people enjoyed prior to this time was probably several visits by Rev. J. P. Boehm, an occasional sermon by the itinerant boy preacher Goetschie, and the services of the unordained school teacher J. H. Straub, whom Rev. Boehm charged with both drunkenness and immorality. Is it any wonder then that they, "thirsting for God's Word as dry earth for water," gladly formed themselves into a circle or troupe in the hope of not only obtaining the services of a regularly ordained minister, but one imbued with the spirit of the Master. Especially when it was understood that by so doing they would not be forsaking the faith in which they had been confirmed in the Fatherland. For uniformity sake it was agreed that the sacraments should be administered according to the Lutheran custom, though it appears that those of the Reformed faith were in the majority. John Gottlieb Pezold and Leonard Schnell were appointed by the authorities at Bethlehem to organize the work in Maguntsehe (Emaus) and to regularly break the bread of life to the hungry souls. In order that the children might be trained in the knowledge and love of God a schoolhouse was erected in 1746. The Pennsylvania Synod at this time began to show signs of disintegration and the authorities at Bethlehem in order to conserve their interests in Macungie (Emaus) called a lovefeast on July 23, 1747, to discuss the question of a closer relation with the Brethren Church. It was determined that on the following Sabbath, July 30, the organization of a Brethren congregation should be consummated and all should come to Bethlehem for this purpose.

On the appointed Sunday practically all the members of the Macungie circle, forty-four in number, appeared at a lovefeast in Bethlehem, at which the preliminary arrangements were completed, and at six o'clock in the evening were constituted a regular Moravian congregation.

The names of those who entered into the new organization were: Sebastian Knauss, Anna Knauss, Jacob Ehrenhardt, Barbara Ehrenhardt, Samuel Eberhardt Kopp, Anna Kopp, Conrad Wezel, Philip Kratzer, Jacob Herrmann, Heinrich Guth, Joseph Graff, Peter Graff, Margareta Graff, Johannes Knauss, Maria C. Knauss, Jacob Loseher and wife, Johannes Koehler, Eva M. Koehler, Martin Bamberger, Elizabeth Bamberger, Johannes Landes and wife, Jacob Barstler, Catherine Albrecht, George Hartmann, Christina Hartmann, Tobias Weber, Margareta Weber, Peter Hoffman and wife, Rudy Oberly and wife, Frederick Rauschenberger, Maria Goetschi Rauschenberger, Catharine Guthin, Rosina Pfingstag, Mrs. Philip Kratzer, Gertrude Cugin, Catherine Wezel.

The union episode and formal organization of a Brethren congregation at Emaus seriously hindered the growth of the Salisbury Union Congregation. The small log church on the Little Lehigh became a deserted house. The Reformed pastor, John W. Straub, ceased his labors and the formal organization of a Lutheran congregation was retarded for almost a decade. When Rev. Michael Schlatter visited the Reformed congregation of the Lehigh Valley, early in the summer of 1747, for the purpose of organizing them into charges, and to have them unite in the formation of a Synod, he found the Salisbury congregation vacant and inharmonious. (Pages 160-163, Schlatter's Life and Travels.)

Having organized the scattered congregations into sixteen charges, Rev. Schlatter called a convention for the purpose of organizing a Coetus (Synod).¹ In response to this call twenty congregations responded by sending 31 delegates, four of whom were ministers. The result of this convention, which met in the old Reformed Church in Philadelphia, September 29 to October 2, 1747, was the organization of the Coetus with a long series of meetings still unbroken. At this convention the Salisbury congregation was represented by Heinrich Roth. His name is recorded as the delegate from the Little Lehigh. At this meeting Rev. Schlatter reported that he had received letters from consistories in Monocacy, Conestoga, Lancaster, York, Donegal, Macungie, Lehigh, Raritan, Cocalico, Little Lehigh, Saucon, Forks, etc., all of which requested help and asked for the Lord's Supper. In reference to the congregation in Oley, Manatawney, Maxatawny, Macungie, Allemangel, Lehigh, etc., he reports, they "are not ripe enough" and should be let alone until their desire for true and regular ministers becomes greater.

At the second meeting of the Coetus, held at Philadelphia, September 28, 1748, the delegates from Egypt, Heidelberg and Little Lehigh jointly asked that they constitute a charge and be given a minister. In its proceedings we find the following minute in reference to this request: "The delegates from Egypt and Heidelberg, in Bucks County, and from Little Lehigh, have asked for a regular minister and have received as a unanimous answer from the Coetus that if at least fifty pounds of Pennsylvania money can be raised, then Coetus will send a request to the venerable Christian Synods to obtain a minister for them." Minutes of Coetus, p. 42. Under date of January 29, 1749, Rev. Schlatter² made the following entry: "I received letters from Macungie and Egypt with earnest solicitation that I might come over and visit them and administer to them the Holy Supper. On this occasion Rev. Boehm, at my request, took upon himself to attend to the wants of these remote congregations."

On the 28th of April Rev. Boehm accordingly visited the Egypt congregation and administered communion. On his return he was suddenly taken sick and died the following day at the home of his eldest son at Hellertown. Whether Rev. Boehm had previously administered the Holy Supper in Macungie will doubtless never be known, since both the early Macungie, i.e. Salisbury, records as well as the private records of Rev. Boehm are known to have been destroyed.

After the death of Rev. Boehm Rev. Schlatter requested Rev. Leydich to occasionally visit and edify vacant congregations. He frequently conducted services at Salisbury and Upper Milford until they were finally recognized as a part of his charge.

Reformed Pastors.

JOHN PHILIP BOEHM.

Rev. John Philip Boehm was the first pastor to minister to the spiritual wants of the early settlers of the Macungie regions. The Moravian records of Emaus note marriages and baptisms by him. In a letter to Synod of Holland, dated October 18, 1734, he states that some people from Macungie have come at various times to communion in the congregation entrusted to him at Falkner Swamp, and brought children for baptism. He was born at Hochstadt, Germany, November 25, 1683, where his father, Philip Lewis Boehm, was pastor prior to his coming to America. He taught school at Worms (1708-1715) and at Lamsheim (1715-1720) after which he came to Pennsylvania and located in Whitpain Township, Montgomery County, and became a farmer. Soon after his arrival he was called upon by the people to lead in religious services. So well pleased were they with him as a reader that they prevailed upon him to become their pastor and though he explained that according to the church order he could not accept the office of pastor, protesting that he could not justify before God his refusal of so necessary a work. He finally yielded to their entreaties and in the fall of 1725 administered communion for the first time at Falkner Swamp, Skippack, Whitemarsh.

He was regularly ordained in the Reformed Church of New York City, November 23, 1729. He then took extensive journeys to the outlying settlements, baptizing the children and conducting services in houses and barns and laying foundation for the organization of congregations. His labors were chiefly confined to the eastern half of the German settlements or to the territory now included in the counties of Philadelphia, Bucks, Montgomery, Northampton, Lehigh, and Berks. He stood firmly against the union movement of Zinzendorf and saved the Reformed from being absorbed by the Moravians. Dr. J. I. Good says of him, "He saved the Reformed Church and continued her historic existence. Our Church should ever honor him as its defender as well as its founder." Rev. Jos. H. Dubbs¹ says of him, "In missionary work he was untiring and he founded many congregations which he kept alive by his occasional visits, waiting for better days. More than to any other individual the founding and preservation of the Reformed Church in Pennsylvania in this time is due to the self-sacrificing devotion of John Philip Boehm."

In addition to his three original congregations he also preached at various times to the congregations in Philadelphia and Germantown until 1747. Though pressed by age and infirmity, he continued at the request of Rev. Schlatter to visit distant congregations among which were Tulpenhocken, Macungie and Egypt. On his return from Egypt, where he administered communion, April 28, 1749, he was suddenly taken ill and died on the following day in the house of the eldest son, in Hellertown. The house is still standing.

JOHN HENRY GOETSCHI.

John Henry Goetschi was a son of Rev. Moritz Goetschi, who was a minister at Saletz, in the Canton of Zurich, Switzerland, where he was deposed from the ministry, but the people believing him to have been treated unjustly remained attached to him, and he at once organized a colony to go to the Carolinas, and on October 4, 1734, he left Zurich, with a company of about four hundred souls, including his wife and eight children. At the Hague, Goetschi met a Mr. Von Felken, who induced him to change his destination from the Carolinas to Pennsylvania and to accept the office of Superintendent of the scattered Reformed congregations of the Province. The colony arrived at Philadelphia in May, 1735, and while enroute Goetschi took sick and died a few minutes after being brought ashore. John Henry, his eldest son, a boy of about seventeen years, had been a student for the Gospel Ministry in Zurich and when the people saw his excellent testimonials regarding his studies, they were delighted and insisted that he must preach. He accepted the challenge and soon became very popular.

"Everywhere the people were eager to accept him as a pastor. Rev. Good calls him 'The Boy Preacher of the Reformed Church.' " On the title page of the church record at New Goshenhoppen he noted that he was serving simultaneously congregations at Skippack, Old Goshenhoppen, New Goshenhoppen, Swamp, Saucon, Egypt, Macedonia, (Maxatawny) Mosillem, Oley, Bern, and Tulpenhocken. This entry was probably made in 1736. Rev. J. F. Berk, in Christian Landmarks, published in 1840, states that he also preached in Macungie. This claim of Rev. Berk is substantiated by the fact that the Moravian records at Emaus contain two baptisms by him. (See Reformed Baptismal Record.)

On September 24, 1740, he paid a farewell visit to New Goshenhoppen and then retired from Pennsylvania in order to complete his studies. In 1748 he was regularly ordained by the Dutch Reformed Church. After ordination he received a call from the Dutch Reformed Congregation, which he served until his death in 1774. Rev. Corwin¹ speaks of him as a learned, pious and godly man and a faithful and successful preacher of the Gospel, and describes him as being "below the middle size, of a vigorous constitution, abrupt in speech, but his language as clear and expressive."

JOHN WILLIAM STRAUB.

John William Straub before coming to Pennsylvania taught school at Gronau in the Palatinate. He took the oath of allegiance at Philadelphia on September 21, 1732, and was then 44 years of age, hence born in 1688. Between the years of 1739 and 1746 he preached at stated times to the congregations of Skippack, Indian Creek, and Salisbury. It was during his pastorate that the first church in 1741 was erected. He was a linen weaver by trade and was never ordained. It is not definitely known how long he served the Salisbury congregation. The years of service usually credited to him are 1741 to 1743. However, since to him the deed was made, December 15, 1743, we may reasonably presume that his service extended at least over in the year 1744. In 1746 Schlatter found him at Indian Creek when he made the following entry in his diary:² "Oct. 20. Hitherto a linen weaver, named Straub, has preached here every week in this congregation and has performed ministerial acts, but he has now promised me to administer the holy sacraments no more. However, he will continue to preach or read at my request, until they secure a minister, hoping that he can then serve as school teacher, for which he is well qualified, and will receive a small yearly contribution from the Reverend Synods of Holland."

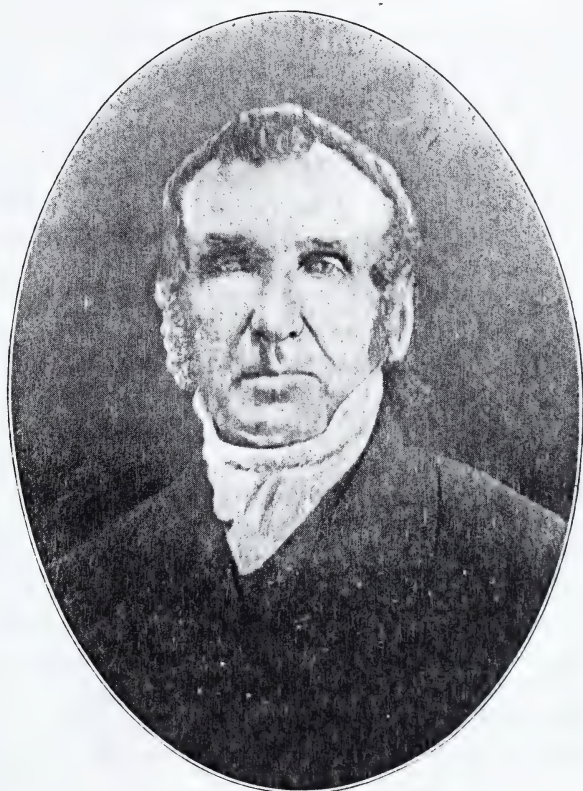

REV. JOHN PHILIP LEYDICH.

Rev. John Philip Leydich was born April 28, 1715, at Girkhausen in Westphalia, where his father was pastor. He was an ordained minister and had probably labored in the fatherland for some time before he was sent to Pennsylvania by the Synod of South Holland. Concerning his arrival in America Rev. Schlatter notes in his diary³ thus: "On the 15th of September, 1748, to my exceeding great joy, came to my house, healthy and happy, Rev. John Philip Leydich, with his wife and two children, having been sent over by the Reverend Christian Synod of South Holland, which this year assembled at Briel. His Reverence showed me his letters of appointment as minister in these regions, and handed over to me the letters which the reverend Christian deputies of the Synod had entrusted to him; which convinced me anew of the continued zeal and faithful care under which the Christian Synods manifest for the good of the Pennsylvania churches; and furnishes me with reasons for bowing my knees before God, to present a heartfelt thank-offering before Him." On the 9th of October, Rev. J. P. Boehm installed him as pastor of the congregations of Falkner Swamp and Providence, which congregations Boehm, on account of his advanced age, found it impossible to serve.

Rev. Leydich was a missionary. His labors were by no means limited to his charge. He visited many shepherdless congregations beyond his charge and was the instrument of keeping them from disbanding. He continued to serve Salisbury and Upper Milford until 1771, when, on account of failing health, he was unable to make the long journey from Falkner Swamp to Salisbury and Upper Milford. He died January 4, 1784, and is buried in a private cemetery in Frederick Township, Montgomery County.

CONRAD STEINER, JR., 1770-1771.

Conrad Steiner, Jr., was a son of Rev. Conrad Steiner, who was born January 1, 1707, at Winterthur, in the Canton of Zurich, Switzerland. In response to the constant appeals of Rev. Schlatter to the Churches of Holland and Switzerland, he was sent in 1749 as a missionary to Pennsylvania. The year of the birth of Conrad, Jr., is unknown, but he appears to have been born prior to his father's coming to Pennsylvania. At first, and up to the year 1771, he served the calling of a school-master and catechist, studying theology in the meanwhile, also preaching in vacant charges and assisting Rev. Leydich. It was in this capacity that he served the Salisbury congregation. Rev. Leydich in presenting his resignation to the Coetus suggested Steiner as his successor because the congregations were well pleased with his services. In 1771 he was licensed to preach and in 1774 was called to Lehigh County. In the Coetal minutes of 1782 we find the following notice: "The congregations of Allentown, Moorestown, and Lehigh have informed Synod, with sorrowful hearts, of the death of their beloved pastor, the Rev. Steiner."

JOHN GEORGE WITMER, 1771-1779.

John George Witmer was born in 1735 and came to America in 1766 with Rev. John Theobald Faber, a native of Zosenheim in the Palatinate, and at one time a student at Heidelberg. After his arrival in Pennsylvania he was immediately called to the Muddy Creek charge, Lancaster County, where he labored with little or no success. The people failed to support him properly and he suffered from chronic melancholy. When, on account of failing health, Rev. Leydich was compelled to relinquish Salisbury and Upper Milford, Coetus deemed it advisable to propose Witmer to them, so that the good man, who is worthy of pity, might be helped in this way. It was further suggested that Rev. Blumer, of Allentown, should accompany him and present him to the congregation. He apparently pleased the congregation and was elected and served them very acceptably until the year of his death. In 1777 he served as secretary of the Coetus of Pennsylvania. He died on Christmas, December 25, 1779.

REV. JOHN HENRY HELFRICH.

Rev. Helfrich was born in Moszbach, near Frankfurt-on-the-Main, October 22, 1739. His father, John Peter Helfrich, was burgomaster in Moszbach and died soon after the birth of John Henry and his mother married Rev. Helfenstein, who later became inspector and pastor in Singheim. John Henry and his stepbrothers, Albert Conrad Helfenstein and John Henry Helfenstein, in company studied theology in the University of Heidelberg. Having completed his studies he was licensed and ordained September 22, 1761. In 1771 the Synod of Holland challenged him, his stepbrother Rev. J. C. Helfenstein and Rev. J. G. Gobhard to go to America. They accepted the challenge and sailed for the new fields of labor September 6, 1771, and landed at New York January 14, 1772. Soon after their arrival he went to Philadelphia and then to Weisenberg, Lehigh County, where he began his labors in June of the same year and continued until the time of his death, December 5, 1810.

The following is a list of congregations he served and the time when he took charge of them: Weisenberg, Lowhill, Kutztown, Delongs, Heidelberg, 1772; Longswamp, 1774; Salisbury and Upper Milford, 1775; Ziegel, 1778; Trexler-town, 1784; Lynntown, 1804. In order to serve these many congregations he often preached weekdays.

Rev. H. Harbaugh¹ says: "The first Reformed settlers here were worthy Christian people, the largest number of them being Huguenot and Swiss families. They came into this country pious, and many for the sake of piety. What they desired and greatly needed was pious ministers; but, alas! such were not to be obtained. . . . This region was afflicted, for the space of full forty years, by a succession of unordained, irresponsible ecclesiastical vagrants, who were not only irregular in office, but generally grossly immoral in their lives. The reign of each one was generally short; as the piety and good sense of the old people were insulted by their crude ministrations and immoral lives. But they got rid of one only to be afflicted again by another like him. Gradually the piety of the fathers itself suffered, and the young grew up in ignorance and vice. . . . and after from twenty-five to forty years had passed, a peculiar state of society began to prevail, which may properly be designated as half-civilized."

Such were the religious conditions previous to Rev. Helfrich's arrival in 1772. He is said to have organized consistories in a regular way and sought to have the congregations with the Coetus. While he was mild and prudent, nevertheless he insisted upon regularity and purity of life, and hence some congregations hardened in their sins soon found it agreeable to dismiss him. In most of the congregations he was successful. Light and life soon spread and order came out of chaos. He by nature was kind and sympathetic and always punctual and prompt. During his ministry he baptized 5830 and confirmed 4000 souls. On the 5th of December, 1810, when in the act of mounting his horse, he suffered from a stroke and died the same day. He lies buried in the family plot.

REV. JOHN HENRY HOFFMEIER, 1797.

Rev. John Henry Hoffmeier was born in Anhalt-Coethen, in Germany, March 17, 1760, and was baptized three days later. Through the death of his several brothers and his own serious illness he was led to consecrate himself to the holy ministry. Soon after his recovery he was left an orphan but found a home in the Orphans' Asylum at Halle, where his conduct and diligence in his studies made him a favorite. In 1779 he was transferred to Frederick College, also in Halle, where he studied theology, graduating three years later. From Halle he went to Hamburg where he was engaged as a tutor in a private family, but finding the climate of Hamburg too harsh he went to Bremen where he began preaching as a candidate. While in Bremen he was shown a letter from America, describing the lamentable spiritual destitution of the German settlers, and upon being asked whether he would not respond to its call, he replied: "Yes, I will go: I regard that letter as addressed to me." During his stay at Bremen he had formed the acquaintance of Gertrude Asen, a pious woman of culture and refinement, and they were united in holy wedlock, May 8, 1793, and on the following day set sail for America. They were accompanied by Rev. C. L. Becker and his wife, also from Bremen, whose hearts had also been touched by the appeal from their brethren in America. Through the efforts of Rev. Geo. Troidemier, pastor of the Reformed congregation at Baltimore, the port at which their ship landed, they both received calls from Northampton County, Pennsylvania: Rev. Becker, the charge consisting of congregations of Easton, Mt. Bethel, Plainfield, and Dryland, and Rev. Hoffmeier, the charges consisting of Upper Saucon, Lower Saucon, Springfield, and Hamilton, beyond the Blue Mountains. Besides these he often supplied the neighboring congregations.

How long or in what capacity he served the Salisbury congregation is not known. In 1797 he opened the communion record, recording the names of those who communed at both the Spring and Fall communions.

In 1806 he accepted a call from the First Church, Lancaster, where he labored very successfully until 1831, when he retired from the active ministry. He died at the home of his son-in-law, March 18, 1838. During his last illness he suffered excruciating bodily pains, and upon being asked by a friend what he could do for him, he replied: "God will strengthen me, for those that put their trust in Him shall never be forsaken." He lies buried directly under the pulpit of the First Church, Lancaster.

It is related that when he was about to leave his first charge and remove to Lancaster, that he was given a dinner by his congregations and that on the day of his departure a large company of people accompanied him several miles, and that for thirty days many of his parishioners wore crape on their arms as an expression of their sense of the loss they sustained by his removal.

JACOB WILLIAM DECHANT, 1805-1808.

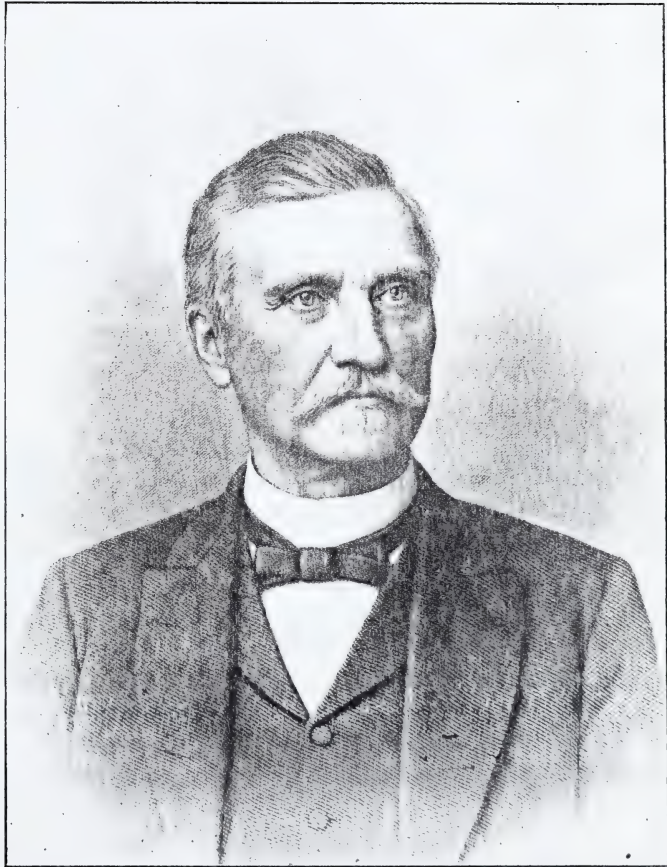

Jacob William Dechant was born at Kreutznach in the Palatinate, February 18, 1784. He was a son of John Peter Dechant and his wife Jacobina, nee Walluer. Both his paternal and maternal grandfathers were ministers of the Gospel. Mr. Dechant emigrated to Baltimore in 1805 and soon thereafter began to study theology under Rev. C. L. Becker. He was licensed and ordained in 1808 and soon thereafter accepted a call to the charge of which Salisbury was a part, which, in addition to Salisbury, is said to have consisted of the following congregations: Springfield, Nacomixon, Upper Milford, Trexlertown, Longswamp, and Upper Saucon. In 1815 he was challenged by the Synod to go to Ohio as a missionary, in which capacity he labored about three and one-half years, after which he returned again to Pennsylvania. He died October 5, 1832, and was buried in the graveyard at the Oley church, Berks County.

Harbaugh says: "As a preacher he was popular and generally beloved by his people. He was a man of unusual talents and training and is said to have prepared a number of young men for the Christian ministry."

DANIEL ZELLER, 1815-1857.

Daniel Zeller was born in Tulpenhocken Township, Berks County, Pa., May 27, 1792. He was a son of Francis and Elizabeth Zeller. In his youth he worked on his father's farm, and having a taste for reading, he bought many books which he used during his spare moments. It is related that often while the horses were eating he would read his books, leaving the work about the barn to his older brother. While he told his father of his desire to prepare himself for the Holy Ministry he received a father's blessing and encouragement and the promise of financial aid to prosecute his studies. In the year 1811 he began his preparatory and theological studies under the direction of Rev. Samuel Helfenstein, D.D., in Philadelphia. He was examined and licensed April 15, 1815. By the consent of Synod he took charge of the congregation of which Rev. J. W. Dechant was the pastor and who had been granted a leave of absence for the purpose of making a missionary tour to Ohio. Rev. Dechant never returned to his former field and thus Rev. Zeller continued to serve the charge until May, 1857, when, on account of bodily infirmities, he was compelled to resign. He died of consumption at Allentown on the afternoon of Easter Sunday, April 12, 1862, and was buried in the Union Cemetery, Allentown. The burial services were held in Zion's Reformed Church. Text: Daniel 12:3, And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament, and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever.

Rev. Zeller's private records, which, however, do not contain an account of the first few years of his ministry, show that he baptized 3,881, confirmed 2,139, married 1,110 couples, and buried 1,073.

REV. A. J. G. DUBBS

Rev. D. Y. Heisler in his Lives of the Fathers says of him: "Father Zeller was a man of great modesty and amiability, wholly incapable, we should think, of doing a wrong act or speaking even an unkind word, an 'Israelite indeed in whom there was no guile.' His mild and kindly disposition made him the friend and favorite of all who knew him. In his habits he was singularly retired and his character, both public and private, was of that quiet innocent and gentle cast which all admire and a few possess."

A neighboring pastor writes of him thus: "As a minister he grew up among his people from youth to perfect manhood, onward even to extreme old age. The most of his members learned to regard him as their spiritual father, whom he had met and blessed in the different stages of life, for he had baptized a large number of them in infancy, confirmed many in youth, and married others in mature years, and buried not a few of them after the close of life, with the benediction of the Church. Though dead, he still lives in the memories of many pious and devoted friends who speak with feelings of grateful pleasure of his earnestness and fidelity as a minister of Jesus Christ. Blessed is the memory of the just. Well may we call him the grand old man of Salisbury."

A. J. G. DUBBS.

BY S. K. WETZEL.

Alfred Joseph Getz Dubbs, the eldest son of Rev. Joseph S. Dubbs, D.D., and his wife Susan, nee Getz, was born in Windsor Township (now Perry), Berks County, Pa., on the 8th day of June, 1826. He was baptized in infancy by the Rev. Gottlieb Jaeger, a colleague of his father and an intimate friend of the family. The sponsors were Jacob Klein and his wife Mary.

A. J. G. Dubbs descended from a family which had been long identified with the Reformed Church. As tradition tells us they were, in the fifteenth century, followers of John Hus in his protest against the tyranny of Rome. During the wars which followed the martyrdom of that good man, they were compelled to flee from Bohemia to the Austrian province of Styria, where they are found settled as early as 1446. At the beginning of the Reformation a member of the family moved to Birmensdorf, Canton Zurich, Switzerland, where he worked in iron, and became a manufacturer of weapons. This man lost his life in the defense of his country at Cappel, on October 11, 1531, in the battle in which the great reformer Zwingli was killed. For many generations his descendants were known as "the gunsmiths of Birmensdorf." In 1732 Jacob Dubbs, a son of Jacob Dubbs and his wife Anna Glattly, gathered his little patrimony and moved to America. He took up a tract of Government land in what is now Lower Milford, Lehigh County, near the line of Bucks, where he became widely known as a worker in iron. His name appears on the earliest extant list of members of the Great Swamp Church. He had one only son, Daniel, who took up his father's business, and manufactured many of the weapons which were used during the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812. Daniel Dubbs had six sons, and it is said that five were at different times elders of the church, and the sixth, Joseph S., the father of our sketch, became a minister of the Gospel.

From Windsor Joseph S. Dubbs moved to North Whitehall, near the site of the present village of Ironton. Here Alfred spent the days of his boyhood attending the schools in the neighborhood. In the Fall of 1840, he was sent to Easton to attend the school conducted by Rev. Dr. John Vanderveer. At the age of fifteen he was confirmed by his father, and admitted a member in the Reformed church at Egypt.

As he did not desire to enter a profession he determined to prepare himself for a business life. After working for several years in this direction, he became physically disabled and was induced by his father to return to school. He accordingly, in the Spring of 1845, went to Mercersburg where Marshall College, the literary institution of the Reformed Church, was then located. Having pursued his studies in Marshall College until the Fall of 1849, he passed a creditable examination at the close of the Junior year of his course and was regularly admitted to the Senior Class. Still feeling a disinclination for a professional life, he was at this point persuaded to take charge of a select school, where he started several young men for a college course.

Not desiring to make teaching a permanent employment, the question concerning a vocation in life now assumed the greatest importance. He decided to enter the Christian Ministry. With this purpose he studied theology and in the Spring of 1851 appeared before the Classis of East Pennsylvania, at its annual session in Plainfield, Northampton County, where he was examined and licensed to preach the Gospel. He was ordained in the Fall of the same year in Zion's Reformed Church, Allentown.

He immediately received a call to preach English in Allentown, and in this capacity served one year.

In 1852 he became pastor in South Whitehall, Kreidersville, Friedens and Eastern Salisbury congregations. The following year Moore Township and Towamensing congregations were added. During this pastorate he supplied for a short time Reformed congregations at Weissport and Bethlehem. In the Spring of 1857 he accepted a call from the charge which Rev. Daniel Zeller had served for 42 years, consisting of the following congregations: Trexlertown, Millers-town, Western Salisbury, Upper Milford and Friedensville. He served this charge for fourteen years, when at his suggestion it was divided by running the boundary line between the East Pennsylvania and Goshenhoppen Classis through its territory.

He then accepted a call from the first three named congregations which he served till 1876, when he resigned to take charge of a proposed mission at Allentown, and a similar one at Emaus. St. John's congregation at Emaus was organized by Rev. Dubbs, and the present union church was built during his pastorate.

On April 1, 1876, he assumed charge of the mission in Allentown from which Salem's Church is derived, and in nine months he had organized a congregation and had built a church which was dedicated on Christmas Day of the same year. Dr. Dubbs was pastor of Salem's Church for sixteen years, and during this time increased its membership to over twelve hundred. In 1892, on account of impaired health, he resigned, leaving to his successor one of the largest churches in the city of Allentown, free of debt and in excellent condition.

In the year 1874 the honorary degree of A.M. was conferred upon him by Franklin and Marshall College, and in 1885 he received the title of D.D. from the same institution. Dr. Dubbs was married on the 18th day of October, 1853, to Maria Schreiber. She entered her heavenly reward on the 23d day of January, 1894. They had one daughter, who died in infancy.

Dr. Dubbs died November 7, 1897, aged 71 years, 4 months and 29 days. He lies buried in West End Cemetery, Allentown, Pa.

THOMAS N. REBER.

Thomas N. Reber, a son of Rev. Joel L. Reber and his wife Elvina M., daughter of the sainted Rev. Thomas H. Leinbach, was born at Jonestown, Lebanon County, Pa., when his father was the pastor of the Reformed church at that place, in the year 1847. When he was less than 9 years of age he became an orphan and although his father had two brothers who were clergymen and his mother had three brothers who served in the ministry, he nevertheless had an aversion to preparing himself for the clerical profession. Having at the age of nine years become a member of an uncle's family at Reading, Pa., he shared in the advantages of the school life of the city. Being prepared for the teaching of country schools he became a schoolmaster for nine consecutive terms. He was a student at Mercersburg and at Palatinate College at Myerstown and found his way into the Seminary at Lancaster, Pa., in the year 1873, where he entered into a pursuance of those studies necessary for the Gospel Ministry. Finally as a member of the Senior Class he was requested by Rev. Alfred J. G. Dubbs, D.D., to preach for the Salzburg congregation on February 20, 1876. Dr. Dubbs contemplating his resignation as pastor with a view of organizing Salem's congregation at Allentown, Pa., Mr. Reber was again requested by the consistory to preach a trial sermon on March 29 following. It resulted in a nearly unanimous call. On Easter Sunday, April 16, as a member of the Senior Class of the Seminary he preached again for this people. On May 28 following he officiated at his first funeral service in the Salzburg congregation, it being Philip Schmoyer, who at the age of 71 years, 1 month and 9 days had laid himself down to sleep the last sleep of death. Mr. Schmoyer had been one of the representative members of the church at that time. The passage of Scripture used as the funeral text was John 8:51. The pulpit was served as licentiate regularly after the close of the Seminary at Lancaster, Pa., until July 23, 1876, when he was installed as pastor by Rev. A. J. G. Dubbs, D.D., and Rev. Samuel A. Leinbach, and from that time on was the ex-officio pastor of the Salzburg Reformed Congregation. On August 6th he preached his introductory sermon, basing his remarks on Acts 10:29-33. The entire number of his regular sermons was 420. His last sermon was given on August 14, 1892, basing his remarks on I Corinthians 16:10, which from all indications has borne fruit as far as is known, since faith, hope and love seem to be the predominating features of the membership.

That the congregation, 170 years old, may still continue to grow in all things necessary for an eternal inheritance, incorruptible and undefiled and that fadeth not away is the wish of a former pastor.

THOMAS N. REBER.

REV. CHARLES E. SCHAEFFER.

REV. PRESTON A. DELONG.

Rev. Preston Alfred DeLong was born at Rockdale, Lehigh County, Pa., January 14, 1873. In his youth, his parents removed to Allentown, where he graduated from the High School in the year 1889. In the Fall of 1890 he entered the Freshman Class of Muhlenberg College to prepare himself for the Gospel Ministry, where he remained for two years and then went to Franklin and Marshall College, from which institution he graduated in the year 1894 with second honor and the valedictory. In the Fall of the same year he entered the Theological Seminary at Lancaster and graduated in the Spring of 1897. He was examined and licensed to preach the Gospel by Lehigh Classis in session in St. John's Church, Emaus, Pa., the same year and at once accepted a call from the Salisbury charge, which he had supplied during the last years of his theological course. His ordination and installation took place in the Salisbury Church, June 13, 1897, the committee consisting of G. B. Smith, Thomas Reber and J. D. Fritzinger. Rev. DeLong also supplied Grace Church, South Allentown, and for two years taught German in the Allentown College for Women in addition to his regular pastoral work. After a pastorate of about two and one-half years he resigned to accept a call from the Huntingdon Church. From there he went to Zion's Church, Chambersburg, and at the present time is actively engaged in the work of the pastorate in the Watertown charge.

REV. J. P. BACHMAN.

Rev. J. P. Bachman was born at Lynnvile, Lehigh County, Pa., June 14, 1868. He is a son of Stephen Bachman and his wife Caroline (nee Fetherolf). In his boyhood days he worked on the farm during the Summer months, and during the Winter months he attended the public schools of the township. He taught public school for four terms. In 1890 he entered the Sophomore Class at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., from which he graduated with honors in 1893. He graduated from the Theological Seminary in 1896. The same year he became pastor of Paradise Charge (Troutville, Pa.), Pittsburg Synod. This charge he served for three years. He assumed the pastorate of the Salisbury Charge (which at the time consisted of Jerusalem of Western Salisbury, St. John's of Emaus, and St. Mark's of South Allentown), January 1, 1900, and served it until May 1, 1908. From May 1, 1908, to April, 1911, he was pastor of the Reformed Church, Mulberry, Ind. Since April, 1911, he has been pastor of St. Stephen's Reformed Church, Perkasio, Pa.

REV. JOHN BAER STOUTT.

Rev. John Baer Stoutt was born in Maxatawny Township, Berks County, Pennsylvania, October 17, 1878, being the second son of John R. and Amanda Baer Stoutt. On both his paternal and maternal sides he comes from pioneer Reformed families. His great great great great grandfather, John Michael Stoutt, was one of the founders of the Berne Reformed Congregation, and his great great great grandfather, Johannes Baer, was one of the founders of the Ziegel Reformed Congregation. He was baptized by Rev. A. J. Herman and confirmed by Rev. M. H. Brensinger. After attending the public schools and high school at Fleetwood he attended the Keystone Normal School, from which he was graduated in 1900. Prior to graduation he had been employed as a teacher for two years. After graduation he taught one more year and then returned to Normal School at Kutztown to prepare himself for college entrance. He entered the Sophomore Class in Franklin and Marshall College in the Fall of 1902 and was graduated in 1905. While in college he was a member of Goethean Literary Society and represented both his society and Alma Mater in a number of class, society, collegiate and inter-collegiate literary and oratorical contests. In six of these contests he was awarded first prize, in one second, and in two third. In the Fall of 1905 he entered the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church at Lancaster, from which he was graduated with honors May 14, 1908, and on June 3 was examined and licensed by the Reverend Classis of Lehigh, at its annual meeting at Jacksonville, Pa. During the Summer of 1906 he studied theology in the University of Chicago. He accepted a call from the Salisbury Charge, Lehigh Classis, and was ordained to the Holy Ministry and installed in St. Mark's Church, South Allentown, Pa., September 28, 1908. The committee consisted of Rev. M. H. Brensinger, Rev. Thomas H. Krick, and Rev. T. N. Reber. He served the Salisbury charge for about two and one-half years, during which time the membership was materially increased, the charge divided, English morning services introduced, and the contribution both for congregational and benevolent purposes doubled. Having received a call from Grace Reformed Congregation, Northampton, he resigned as pastor of this charge and on February 8, 1911, removed to Northampton. On the evening of the same day the joint consistory of the charge met and unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

"WHEREAS, It has pleased our esteemed and respected pastor, Rev. John B. Stoudt, to sever his pastoral relations with us in order that he may enter into a larger and more remunerative field, therefore be it

"Resolved, That we the joint consistory of the Salisbury charge, with the congregations, hereby express our deep sorrow we felt when we learned of his intention to leave us.

"Resolved, That although his action has pained us, we wish to express our appreciation for the faithful and conscientious work which he performed for our general and spiritual welfare, while he was with us, in that he has made the church stronger, both numerically as well as financially.

"Resolved, That while Salisbury charge loses, the Christian Church in general will gain by his going into a larger field where he can continue his noble work, and we congratulate Grace Reformed congregation of Northampton, Pa., which has been so fortunate in securing his services.

"Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and that one copy be presented to our former pastor."

By the Consistory of the Salisbury charge,

Emaus, Pa., February 8, 1911.

CHAS. P. HELLER, Secretary.

Rev. Stoudt was married to Elizabeth A. DeLong, a daughter of Joseph and Mary H. DeLong, of Topton, Pa., October 15, 1908. Mrs. Stoudt is a great great granddaughter of Peter DeLong, the founder of Christ (DeLong's) Reformed Congregation, Bower's, Pa. This union is blessed by one son, John Joseph, born March 11, 1911.

DANIEL E. SCHAEFFER.

Daniel E. Schaeffer, the youngest son of John S. Schaeffer and his wife Magdalena (Peters) Schaeffer, was born October 26, 1872, in Richmond Township, Berks County, Pa. He spent his early days on the farm. Attended the public schools of his native township and the Keystone State Normal School, where he prepared for College. He entered Franklin and Marshall College in the Fall of 1892, graduating in June, 1895. He graduated from the Theological Seminary at Lancaster in May, 1898. He was licensed to preach the Gospel by Lehigh Classis and ordained in Germant's Church of the Leesport charge, July 24, 1898. He served this charge for a period of thirteen years, 1898-1911. On May 7, 1911, he began his pastorate of the Salisbury charge and now resides at Emaus, Pa. He was married to Annie A. Schaeffer in the year 1895, and is the father of six children. He is a brother of Rev. C. E. Schaeffer, a former pastor of the Salisbury charge.

Retrospect.

One hundred and seventy-six years of history lie behind the Reformed Congregation of Western Salisbury. Hither to the region of Macungie, then spoken of as the "end of the wilderness," had come prior to 1734 a few German families who for the peace and comfort vouchsafed by the Heidelberg Catechism, had left their homes in the Fatherland and found an asylum in the land of the Penns. Having come to Pennsylvania for the sake of religion, but having no one to administer to their spiritual wants, they, through the pen of Rev. John Philip Boehm, appealed to the Reverend Christian Synod of Holland, who in response sent them a shepherd. In 1741 the hill which they had selected upon which to erect an altar, before which to pour out their hearts in prayer to God, was crowned with a house of worship. Their names have mostly been forgotten. Many of their tombstones have crumbled into dust, and others the elements have so effaced that their names are no longer legible. But the congregation they founded has remained a living testimony to their faith, a faith which they not only kept themselves but taught to their children, who again taught it to their children, so that through the strange mutations which time wrought in the political realm, the congregation has continued. Though it has been her fortune never to become a large congregation, she was permitted in the providence of God to become that which is even better, the mother of not a few congregations which to-day far out-number the mother church, and to be a radiating center of those beneficent influences which make a family and a State blessed.

In the cemeteries adjoining sleep the hundreds who were born in the bosom of the congregation who worshipped here, and when their eyes closed in blessed sleep were buried here. "What better thing can we do after all than labor, live, and die for Christ, who died for us? Kingdoms and empires may rise and fall like the fabric of a vision that leaves no rock behind, but the Church of Jesus Christ outlives all the changes of history. At the approaching festival for which this brief sketch was prepared, let us be thankful that we belong to the kingdom of God which abideth forever, and let us review our vows, and manifest through the coming years and unto our dying hour our heartfelt gratitude for the great salvation of our faith in our Saviour Jesus Christ, who 'has delivered us from all our sins and miseries' and 'makes all things work-together for our salvation,' and eternal happiness, and trusting that we shall be led to further manifestations of His love and mercy, until we all shall meet in the general assembly of the first born on high where “The saints of all ages in harmony meet,

 Their Saviour and brethren transported to greet;
 While the anthems of rapture unceasingly roll,
 And the smile of the Lord is the feast of the soul!”

THE SALISBURY LUTHERAN CONGREGATION.

MYRON O. RATH.

About four miles west of Allentown, and less than two miles north of Emaus, is located the Jerusalem Western Salisbury Church. It is jointly owned by the Lutheran and Reformed congregations worshipping in it. It stands on an elevated plateau, and can be seen far and wide. The church is a large stone building, and is a splendid specimen of the architecture of the olden time. At the foot of the hill, not far distant, is the Little Lehigh River, along which many of the pioneers settled. In response to the lure of the land, whose fertility was judged by the massive growth of the timber, the early settlers penetrated the "back-woods." Just when the territory, in which our church is located, was taken by the white settlers cannot definitely be determined. But as early as 1730, if not before, small colonies were here, for it is on record that ministerial acts were performed by certain men passing through this section. These early settlers doubtless came by way of Goshenhoppen, and Oley, and the Perkiomen Valley. They were Germans from the Palatinate, who had come to America, and to Pennsylvania, as a place of refuge and of peace. When and to whom the Proprietaries of Pennsylvania issued a warrant covering the site of our church, I have not discovered. Such warrant, however, may have issued as early as 1732. At that time this whole section was called Macungie. In 1752 Salisbury Township was laid out and allowed by the Court. The name of the township has had different spellings, e.g., Salzburg, Saltzburg, Salisburg. But as the surveys were largely made by Englishmen, and the original warrants for land were given to Englishmen principally, the supposition that the township derived its name from the Salisbury in England is therefore doubtless correct. Our church is located in the western part of this township, and is erected on the same site on which the first church was built 170 years ago. Previous to the building of the little log church in 1741, those early settlers, who were a religious people, had a "church in the house." This continued for some years when the colonists determined to build a church. A church was built in 1741, but under whose ministry is not known. Two years after the little log church was erected, it does appear that a certain Johann Wilhelm Straub was here and officiated. In a deed given in 1743, Straub as the party of the second part, is named as "Prediger dahier an der Kleinen Lecha, etc." It is further stated by the party of the first part: "Wir begeben uns nun dieses Plaetzleins (2 Acker fuer 20 Schillinge) mit aller Gerechtigkeit auf hiesiger Landesfreiheit, an die schon wirklich erbaute Reformirte-Evangelisch-Lutherische Kirche, Gott zu ehren, unser und unserer Nachkoemlingen Seelen, Heil und Wohlfahrt."

REV. MYRON O. RATH

How long that little church lasted is not known. It was crudely built of logs; the floor was covered with stones; there was no stove, nor benches, only logs cut for sitting. It is supposed that this church was replaced by a somewhat better frame building. Of this second church, however, we have no certain data. Not only were the churches small and the people poor in those early days, but ministers also were few. And of these many were "godless and scandalously living preachers." As late as 1769 conditions were lamentable, as may be learned from a letter written by a "well meaning Evangelical Justice of the Peace," who in behalf of deacons "from the congregations at Macunshy, Upper Milford, Upper Saccona and Saltzburg" urgently requested of Synod a minister and earnestly desired that Rev. Mr. Kurtz, of Tulpehocken, be sent them. "Rev. Mr. Kurtz would be necessary at this time in our district, because of the many sects and separatists, and because of the godless vagabonds (Land Läufer), who represent themselves as preachers." And long before this time, and during the two decades preceding the building of the little church in 1741, the same sad conditions prevailed. Self-appointed and irresponsible persons often appeared, and performed ministerial acts. They preached, baptized, married, though they were never ordained. Church records were opened and entries made years before ordination took place. Little was known of church order in those days, and where it was in force it was often disregarded. 1741, it antedates the coming of Muhlenberg, Patriarch of the Lutheran Church in America, by one year; and of Schlatter, "official visitor of the churches" of the Reformed, by five years; the organization of the "Coetus of Pennsylvania" by six years, and of the Ministerium of Pennsylvania by seven years; the erection of Salisbury as a township by eleven years, and of Lehigh County by 71 years; the founding of Allentown by 21 years; and the Declaration of Independence by 31 years. 1741 is the year in which the first church was built. "Anno Domini 1741, Ist die Kirche erbaut worden" is written in an old church record. It will perhaps never be known under just what circumstances this little church was built; but like many others it was the visible expression of the devout heart, built without any outside stimulus or inspiration. So far as can be determined there was at this early date a church organization, but no regular ordained minister, only a small log church, "Not yet ripe enough, to be let alone until their desire for true and regular ministers becomes greater." In 1743 a deed was passed. In this deed the name of John William Straub appears as minister, who together with Elders and others, executed the same. Whether he helped organize the Reformed congregation and aided in building the church I do not know. He must have had some official connection with the congregation as appears in the deed. He, however, was no ordained minister, but like Goetehie and others preceding him, preached and performed certain church rites without ordination. He preached for many years at Skippack, and many have come up occasionally and held services here for both parties. Not until 1748, when John Philip Leydich came, a faithful and unpretentious laborer, did the Reformed congregation have the ministrations of a regularly ordained minister. The Lutherans were less fortunate in this respect. But they kept the faith. With firmness and fidelity they adhered to the confessions of the church, although they had no regular Lutheran preacher until 1759. Who will ever tell the story of those eighteen long years? Synod knew of the churches in the outlying districts, but could do little for them. The people petitioned for ministers, but there were none to send. Better days, however, were to come.

Lutheran Pastors.

REV. DANIEL SCHUMACHER.

In 1759 Daniel Schumacher came to this church. When a young man he was engaged in preaching in Nova Scotia. He labored then as a lay missionary, but his support was so meagre that he was compelled to leave, and came to New York in 1754, and later to Eastern Pennsylvania. He was recommended by Rev. John A. Wygand, to the Ministerium for ordination. But for reasons the Synod did not order his ordination. He was ordained, however, but by whom is not known. He never became a member of the Ministerium. His ministrations covered a very large territory. From 1755-1758 we find that he was pastor of Trinity Church, Reading, and from his private record that he labored at Egypt as early as 1757. It is claimed that he served in Weisenberg in the same year. He came to Jerusalem, Western Salisbury, Church in January, 1759, and six months later assisted at the dedication of the Jerusalem, Eastern Salisbury, Church. In the same clear, legible hand in which all of the records made by Schumacher were kept, we find in the one belonging to the latter, "The Christian Evangelical Lutherans and Reformed, both adhering to the Protestant religion, have together erected a church in Salzburg Township, in Northampton County, in the year of the Lord 1759. This church was built after the Indians had again ceased to burn and to kill in this neighborhood, and by poor people only, who were, however, assisted by their brethren with small contributions." What part Schumacher had, if any, in starting the movement to build another Jerusalem Salzburg church, and just why another congregation in the Eastern part of the same township was organized so soon after the first one is not clear. It is somewhat remarkable that in the records of each congregation almost the same list of articles are named as having been contributed, a table cloth, a pewter cup, etc. In the church record of our church Schumacher wrote: "Kirchenbuch von der Evangelisch-Lutherischen Kirche und Augsburgischer Confession zugethanen Glaubens Brüdern in Whitehall Township, der Schmaltzgass, Northampton County." It seems the boundaries of Whitehall, Macungie and Salzburg were then not definitely known. On another page he wrote: "Nachfolgende Kinder sind getauft worden von mir Daniel Schumacher, Evan. Luth. Pfarrer der Gemeinden in Weisenberg, Egypten, Salzburg und Albanien." Then follows this verse:

“Schreib unsere Namen aufs Beste
 Ins Buch des Lebens ein
 Und bind die Seel fein feste
 Ins Bündelein.”

1826771

It is not certain how long he served the congregation. After 1762 the record in his handwriting ceases. In 1768 a single entry of a baptism is made in his well-known handwriting. Schumacher was an active, untiring laborer, and had at one time as many as sixteen congregations. His ministry is said to have extended from 1754-1774, a period of twenty years. His remains are buried in the Weisenberg church graveyard.

REV. J. F. SCHERTLEIN.

Schumacher's records cease in 1762. Van Buskirk came in 1769. Who served during this interim? According to "Documentary History," Sen. Mr. M(uhlenberg) reported in 1768: "In a district situated between north-east and north-west from Philadelphia towards the Blue Mountains, Macunshy, Saccona, Heidelberg, etc., are several vacant congregations, which, after the death of Rev. Mr. Schertlein, were torn and tormented by godless, scandalous living so-called preachers." Although Salzburg is not mentioned, may it not have been one of the congregations included under the "etc.," in the report of President Muhlenberg, which after the death of Schertlein was thus "torn and tormented"? In a letter written by a cousin of Muhlenberg, and dated November 4, 1768, Salisbury is named with three other congregations, uniting in a petition to Synod for a minister. "The deacons from the congregations at Macunshy, Upper Milford, Upper Saccona and Salzburg were all with me yesterday and mutually united themselves to petition the honorable coetus for a preacher, etc." In 1763 no delegates reported to Synod from fear of the Indians. "17. From Macunshy, Heidelberg, Jordan, etc., nobody came on account of the danger from Indians. 19. From Upper Milford, Allentown, etc., a letter of excuse on account of fear of attack by the Indians." At the same convention personal letters were read. One from Mr. Schertlein. "Further, a written excuse from Mr. Schertlein, on account of his age and danger from the Indians, etc."

Schertlein came to America in 1753 in advanced age, and is said to have moved with his family to Macungie, where he served as pastor of neighboring churches. In 1768 Muhlenberg reports him dead, and into this vacant charge, Macunshy and neighborhood, he had sent his son, Peter Muhlenberg, as supply

REV. JACOB VAN BUSKIRK.

If we are mistaken as to Schertlein serving Salisbury at any time, either before Schumacher's coming in 1759, or after 1762, when it may be inferred from the record that his labors ceased, we know that in 1769 Van Buskirk served the congregation regularly for a period of 27 years, from 1769-1793, and again from 1796-1799. Van Buskirk had the confidence and friendship of Muhlenberg, whom he learned to know when a young man, and later when living on his farm in Macungie, entertained in his home. He was present at the funeral of the aged patriarch in 1787. Van Buskirk was of Hollandish descent, and was born in Hackensack, N. J., February 11, 1739. On a certain evening in 1759, while Muhlenberg, then on a pastoral tour, was engaged in catechising a number of young people in Bedminster, Van Buskirk came from Hackensack. Muhlenberg doubtless had a happy influence on the young man, moving him to prepare for the ministry. He received his preparatory education from his pastor Rev. J. A. Wygand, who had recommended Schumacher to Synod for ordination and whose successor in Salisbury he was destined to become. After studying at Princeton College, in 1760 he went to Philadelphia, where he became a student under Muhlenberg. On October 12, 1763, he was ordained. It is claimed that Van Buskirk was the first native born American to enter the Lutheran ministry. He was married March 15, 1764, to Anna M. Hollenbeck. In 1765 he was called to Germantown. In 1769 he came to Lehigh, then Northampton County. In this year he became pastor of the Salisbury congregation, which he served in connection with four or five others. He was in Salisbury until 1793, when he accepted a call to a charge in Bucks County, consisting of three congregations. After an absence of less than three years, in 1796 he resumed the Salisbury pastorate, serving it in connection with his Bucks County charge. "Van Buskirk was a man of more than ordinary ability, a prominent member of the Ministerium of Pennsylvania, and a member of the first Board of Trustees of Franklin College, now Franklin and Marshall College, of Lancaster, Pa. He excelled especially as a catechist and possessed wonderful power of personal magnetism. Whilst serving the congregations in Bucks County, he died suddenly on August 5, 1800, while on his way on horseback to an appointment." He is buried in the "Old Yellow Church" yard, near North Wales, Pa.

GEORGE FREDERICK ELLISON.

After Van Buskirk followed the call to the congregations at Upper Dublin, Whitpain and Gwynedd, in Bucks County, Salisbury was served by a Mr. Ellison, perhaps more as a supply than as a pastor regularly called. Ellison came from Germany. Of his antecedents we have no data. It is of record that in 1793 at the Forty-sixth Convention of the Ministerium, held in Philadelphia, he applied for admission, and it is stated, was highly recommended by various preachers who had become acquainted with him. In reference to his application it was at a later session resolved: That Mr. Ellison receive full license as licensed candidate for the congregations in Obermillford, Obersaceon, Saltzburg and Allentown. The following year at the convention in Reading Ellison reported 143 baptisms, 120 confirmations, 1374 communicants, 44 deaths. It is stated that on the evening of June 17 he preached before Synod. In 1795 his name appears as one of the licensed candidates present at the synodical meeting in Philadelphia, from Upper Millford. At a ministerial meeting of the same convention, he, with others, handed in his license and sermon for examination and approval. The Ministerium resolved that also the license of Mr. Ellison be renewed for one year, as before, and for Steiner's church. At the next convention, held in Yorktown, he was absent without excuse. The baptisms in the church record for the years 1793-1796 are presumed to be his. Of his later work, and of his death and burial nothing is known.

JOHANNES PAUL FERDINAND KRAMER.

From the old church record we learn that a Mr. Kramer preached in Salzburg from 1800-1803. He wrote the following: "Nachfolgende Kinder sind getauft worden von mir Johannes Paul Ferdinand Kramer, Evan. Lutherischer Pfarrer derer Gemeinden Salzburg, Upper Milford, Makunschy." Kramer was a pioneer preacher and amid many self-denials and adverse circumstances cared for the scattered people. He was never ordained. Where he came from is not known. He may have come to Salisbury church as a catechist, or a school teacher, and the congregation being vacant, may have been asked to serve it. However that may be we know that during these years he baptized children and preached. And this he did without even being licensed. For it was only after he had vacated this charge and while preaching in another part of the State that a petition for his licensure was made. In 1806 it appears of record that a paper was handed in to Synod by certain congregations: "Good testimonial for their preacher, Mr. Joh. P. F. Kramer. Petition that he be licensed." In 1809 he presented himself as a candidate for licensure and was judged favorably by the committee. For a time he appears to have been a self-appointed itinerary preacher. In 1811 Synod reports, "concerning the communication of Kramer to the Synod, in which he offers to become traveling preacher for two months and to seek congregations for himself, and asks for two months' salary as traveling preacher for a journey of 53 days already made for this purpose, it was resolved that Synod can in no wise grant his request." Kramer must have fallen into disrepute with Synod for his license was not renewed. In 1813 he humbly begs for the renewal of his license, but the Ministerium abided by its resolution of last year, "and cannot have anything to do with him this year as yet." In 1816 the Ministerium granted him a license, but with the understanding that if ever again well grounded complaints come up against him the Ministerium would never more have anything to do with him." The nature of these "complaints" cannot be determined. In a letter written in 1821 Kramer complains of the treatment received and asks Synod "to some extent to restore his honor by a written declaration that because of his usefulness in his office he is considered a friend." No action is reported.

JOHN G. ROELLER—JOHN CASPER DILL.

After Kramer withdrew from the field, the congregation was without a regular pastor for several years. In 1805 Conrad Jaeger served it in connection with his large charge. Who ministered to this people in 1803 and 1804? Probably Revs. Roeller and Dill. Roeller at this time lived in Goshenhoppen, and Dill was pastor at Egypt. These men doubtless came to Salisbury as supply, the one in 1803 and the other in 1804. Both were honored and faithful ministers. They were members of the Ministerium. Roeller was ordained in 1805 while pastor at Goshenhoppen, which charge he served until his death. He was the father of Rev. Isaac Roeller, late of Kutztown, who died in 1897 at the age of 91. Dill also was a "Pioneer Pastor." For twenty-three years he labored in Berks and Lehigh Counties. In 1815 he went to Ohio, where he manifested the same earnestness and activity that characterized his work in Pennsylvania. He was born in 1758 and died at Germantown, Ohio, in 1824, where he is also buried.

JOHN CONRAD JAEGER.

In 1805 Jaeger was pastor of congregations in Williams Township, Northampton County. In that year Salisbury was added to his already large and scattered charge. Jaeger was a native of York County. He entered the ministry somewhat late in life. It was through his pastor, Rev. Dr. Goehring, who served the Lutheran congregation at York, that Jaeger was prevailed upon to leave his trade of cigar-making and devote his time and talents to the ministry. He had little preparation for so important a work. But he had natural ability and determination. He began his studies under Goering, was licensed to preach and later ordained. He gave good proof of his ministry, and his work as a preacher was favorably spoken of. After his reception into Synod he was called to three small congregations in New Jersey, not far from Easton, Pa. With a growing family, and his salary small he was at first in rather straitened circumstances. But on moving to Williams Township, his second charge, he was more comfortably situated, living on his own farm, comprising 236 acres. His ministry in Salisbury lasted only from Ascension Day, 1805, when he administered the communion, to the Spring of 1808. Although he served Salisbury regularly for three years, I do not think it formed part of his charge. He served it provisionally. But the same zeal and earnestness that characterized his labors in his charge was no doubt shown Salisbury as filial. He was the father of Joshua Jaeger, who for well-nigh three-score years served the Lord in part of the same charge. He died November 8, 1832, aged 64 years and 24 days. He is buried in the old cemetery at Schoenersville.

HEINRICH HEINE.

At the convention in 1807, held in Lancaster, Synod was informed that several young men were desirous of devoting themselves to the ministry. Among these was Heinrich Heine. In order to enable the young men to continue their studies an appropriation of one hundred dollars from the Synodical treasury was made. The following year Macunsky petitioned Synod for a preacher. It was resolved that Mr. Heine visit the congregation, and if he receive a call, that a license be prepared for him for this congregation by the officers in the name of the Ministerium. Heine preached and was called. The same year Salisbury became a part of the charge as it prevailed during the administration of Van Buskirk. Heine was called as pastor of the charge, and in the Fall of 1808 administered the Lord's Supper in Salisbury. In 1812 Heine was ordained. After a pastorate of 9 years he in 1817 resigned and moved to Gettysburg. Why his name is omitted from the synodical roll after 1818 does not appear. But in 1821 he petitions to be again received into the Ministerium. What action was taken the record does not show. Heine no doubt labored with much success and blessing in this charge. The writer has buried a number of persons who were baptized by him while he was pastor at Salisbury.

JOHN G. STECHER.

The successor to Rev. Heine was John G. Stecher. In 1817 he applied for admission into the Ministerium. Upon hearing the reports of the committees as to Mr. Stecher, it was resolved that he be recommended to Pittsburg. He, however, did not go West. Instead he preached in the congregations lately served by Heine, and was elected pastor. Macungie congregation was not satisfied. "It was not itself united, nor did it agree with the other congregations." It therefore appealed to Synod. Synod advised that another election for Stecher be held. This was done. Stecher was again lawfully elected as preacher. But the minority of the congregation still was not satisfied. Synod thereupon resolved that if the latter party should prevent Mr. Stecher from preaching in the church "none of our members can be given permission to perform ministerial acts in the congregation, so long as this thing lasts." After two years Stecher in 1819 resigned, and moved to York County, where he labored until he died.

BENJAMIN GERMAN.

With the coming of Mr. German the church may be said to have entered a new era. It dates the erection of the present splendid church building. How long the little log church of 1741 was used until replaced by the second, a larger and better building, is not known. Tradition has it that there was a second church and that it was a frame building. In 1819 while Rev. Stecher was still pastor the corner-stone of the present church was laid. Soon thereafter he left and German succeeded him. Together with Rev. Zeller, the Reformed pastor, this man's pastorate was destined to be a long and most successful one. There are still a few members of the congregation living who were confirmed by Mr. German. Many interesting anecdotes are told of him. How he circumvented certain fault finders by preaching a most pointed and powerful sermon, and put to confusion those who defied him. Benjamin German was the son of John German and wife Catherine (Schmidt). He was born September 5, 1789, in Womelsdorf, Berks County, Pa. He was baptized in infancy and later confirmed by Rev. Schultz. When in his nineteenth year he earnestly resolved to study for the ministry. He received his preparatory training under a Rev. Van Hoff. Realizing the importance of the work and the necessity of a thorough education, he spent three years in Philadelphia under the direction of the Revs. Helmuth and Schaeffer. He was also for a time under the tutelage of one of the professors of the University of Pennsylvania. In 1818 Synod resolved to grant him a license, although he had an ad interim license. He was then located at Womelsdorf and had charge of three congregations. In 1821 he was ordained. In 1819 he accepted a call to the Salisbury, Upper Milford and Lower Saucon churches, in Lehigh County. He moved from Womelsdorf to the parsonage adjoining the Lehigh or Upper Macungie Church, where he resided until his resignation of this congregation in 1838, when he moved to Allentown. He retained the other three congregations of the charge, and in the same year accepted a call to the "Apples" church. In 1841 he organized Solomon's congregation, Macungie, Pa. During his ministry of twenty-eight years in Lehigh County he baptized 3787 children, confirmed 2000 persons, married 900 couples and officiated at 705 funerals. Encouraged and directed by him, seven young men studied for the Gospel Ministry. In January, 1814, he was married to Magdalena, daughter of Gottfried Schmidt, of Philadelphia. They had seven children, two sons and five girls. For nearly thirty-five years husband and wife lived happily together. The last year of his life he suffered much from catarrh of the stomach. He bore his sufferings patiently and with Christian resignation awaited the end. To his friends he would repeatedly say: "I am ready to die; I have no fear of death." The same consolation he so often brought to the sick and dying during the long years of his active ministry, strengthened him in his dying hours. He died in peace, August 22, 1848, aged 58 years, 11 months and 17 days. Rev. Knosky, of Kutztown, an intimate friend, at the request of the deceased preached from Rev. 22, "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, Amen," being the last verse in the Bible. Mr. German was a powerful preacher, eloquent, fearless. He was a strict disciplinarian and painstaking teacher, as his catechumens testify. He was most emphatic against the use of intoxicants; and it was through him that the practice of passing liquor at funerals was discontinued. He was not without enemies, but that is often the result of being faithful to trust and duty. And he was this. "Moreover it is required in stewards that a man be found faithful."

WILLIAM GERMAN.

Of this servant of the Lord I know very little to chronicle. He was a tall man but not robust in body, rather weak, ailing much. He was a brother of Rev. Benjamin German, and was born in Womelsdorf, September 16, 1798. He studied privately and after his examination was received into the Synod of Pennsylvania. On the death of his brother he became pastor of the five congregations comprised in his charge. The work was exacting and Mr. German proved physically unequal to the task. He called to his aid Student Dechant, a young man studying for the ministry in the Reformed Church. Together these two labored until the death of the pastor, June 28, 1851. Mr. German was married but died without issue. He is buried at the Salisbury Church. On his tombstone is inscribed the following:

“Im Grabe ist Ruh.”

Text, Gen. 48:21.

William German,

Ev. Luth. Prediger,

Geboren September 16, 1798.

Starb June 28, 1851.

Alt 54-9-12.

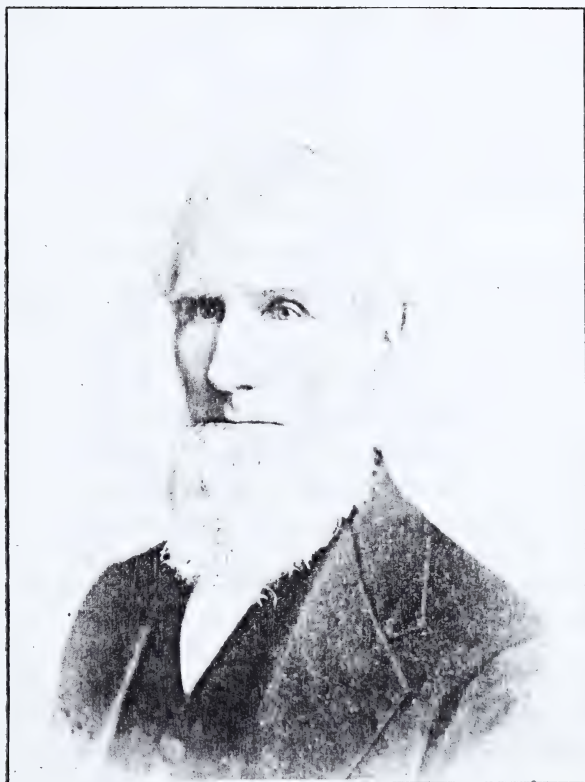

His pastorate was short, his ministrations often interrupted by sickness; his bodily ills many, and yet he is kindly remembered by many for his self-sacrificing work. “Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God, commit the keeping of their souls to Him in well-doing, as unto a faithful Creator.”

JACOB VOGELBACH.

When still a young man Vogelbach came from Germany to America. About ten years prior to coming to Salisbury he was received into the Lutheran Synod of Maryland, Rev. J. G. Morris, D.D., president. It does not appear that he was anything else than a Lutheran, although he is spoken of as a preacher among the United Brethren. It is not unlikely that he preached for these people pending his reception into a Lutheran Synodical body. Four years after he had been received into the Maryland Synod, he, together with St. Michael's Lutheran congregation of Harrisburg, to which he had been called, applied for admission into the Ministerium of Pennsylvania. Both pastor and congregation were received. In 1847 the German Lutheran congregation at Pittsburg extended him a call, which he also accepted, moving there in the Fall of the same year. He did not remain long in the West, returning to his former charge at Harrisburg in November, 1850. In 1852 he left Harrisburg the second time, having accepted a call to the charge made vacant by the death of William German. He moved to Allentown and served the charge for five years. In 1853 he became pastor also of St. Paul's Church, Allentown. In February, 1857, he followed a call to Philadelphia where he was installed pastor of St. Jakobus Gemeinde. This congregation he also served faithfully and with signal ability until advancing years and infirmity of body rendered him incapable of continuing in the active ministry. In consequence of this he was honored by the congregation electing him Pastor Emeritus in 1880. In less than a year, however, November 20, 1880, he fell asleep, dying in the faith he had preached so many years. He was twice married. He was survived by his widow and several children. He was an able preacher and is remembered for his spiritual and evangelical sermons. His remains were buried in Philadelphia. “Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the Kingdom of their Father.”

WILLIAM RATH.

We come now to the history of one whose pastorate was the longest in continuous service of any who have so far ministered to this congregation. It was under Rev. Rath's administration that the church enjoyed its greatest prosperity. During his time many notable improvements were made to the church property, many were added to the church, the contributions for benevolence and other objects were greatly increased and more frequent services held. William Rath was the son of Jacob Rath and his wife Susanna (Boehm). He was born in Upper Saucon, Lehigh County, Pa., near Friedensville, September 23, 1826. He was baptized in infancy and later confirmed by Rev. Joshua Jaeger, pastor of the Lutheran congregation at Friedensville. His childhood and youth were spent on his father's farm near Hellertown, not far from the place where he died. He worked on the farm until the Spring of 1844, when he entered the blacksmith shop with the intention of learning the trade of his father, but his mother's death, May 4, 1844, leaving nine children to his father's care, changed the plans of his life. In the Winter of 1845 he began to teach school and continued until the Fall of 1846, when he went to Philadelphia as salesman in a dry goods house on Third Street. While in the city he regularly attended St. John's Lutheran Church, on Race Street, Rev. Dr. Mayer, pastor; and was also a teacher in the Sunday School. During the Winter of 1847-48 he again taught school. In the Spring of 1848 he went to Gettysburg to attend Pennsylvania College. Here he spent two years, but on account of failing health had to return home. In 1850 he began his studies in the home and under the direction of Rev. Jeremiah Schindel, then living in the parsonage of Jordan Lutheran Church, South Whitehall Township, Lehigh County. He was diligent and sincere in his work. His preceptor entertained the highest regard for him and ever bore testimony to his unwearied application and unfeigned devotion to the work of his Lord. In 1852, he passed his examination and was licensed by the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania at its annual meeting held in Lancaster, and two years later with six others was ordained. His first catechisation was held in Union Church, January 23, 1851; first sermon was preached in Ziegel Church, May 11, 1851, on John 3:2; first funeral, May 30, 1851, was held in Weisenberg Church; first funeral after licensure, June 14, 1852; first baptism, June 14, 1852; first marriage, July 6, 1852; first communion, September 11, 1852, in Weisenberg Church, I Corinthians 11:26. After his reception into the Ministerium he remained for a short time with Rev. Schindel as his assistant, when he received and accepted a call from four congregations in Northampton County, formerly served by Rev. Mendsen, viz: Towamensing, Cherryville, Moorestown and Stone Church; and not long after was elected and served the Washington Township congregation. He lived at Cherryville. In May, 1857, he received and accepted a call to the charge long served by Rev. Benjamin German, and more recently by Rev. Jacob Vogelbach. The charge consisted of four congregations, viz: Salisbury, Zionsville, Blue Church and Apple's. During this time he also served the St.

REV. WILLIAM RATH

Paul's congregation at Catasauqua, until 1861. In the Fall of 1859 he became pastor of the Lower Saucon Lutheran congregation, near Freemansburg, serving it until 1870. During 1858-59 he preached at Mickley's and during 1861-62 he served the congregation at Cedarville. He organized the congregation at Hellertown in 1870 and served it until 1881. He also organized and served St. John's, Emaus, and the Lutheran congregation in Solomon's Church, Macungie. In the Fall of 1857 he received a call to the "Swamp charge," but declined it. During the three last years of his ministry and up to his death, he had pastoral charge of Salisbury and Zionsville, having resigned Blue Church and Apple's. He preached his last sermon in Zionsville on Easter Sunday, April 21, 1889, on 2 Tim. 2:8. Shortly thereafter he was taken sick and was never again able to fill any appointment. In 1882 he celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his pastorate in the four congregations forming the original charge. Very interesting services were held in the different churches and many tokens of high regard and devotion to him were presented. It was a great comfort and encouragement to him to receive these marks of warm appreciation.

During his ministry of thirty-seven years, according to his records, he baptized 3718, married 1031 couples and buried 1466.

Besides the work in his own congregations he did a great amount of work for Synod, Conference and the Church institutions. He was intimately connected and identified with the welfare of Muhlenberg College. He was a trustee on its Board from its beginning. He served as President of the Board from 1876 to 1886 and was the father of the present amended charter of the College.

He was President of the Second District Conference of Synod, from 1871 to 1877, and from 1883 to 1886. Some of the most trying ordeals through which this Conference has passed took place during his incumbency. In Synod he was not less useful and active. He served on many important committees and rendered much valued service to the church.

On December 26, 1853, he was married in Stone Church to Christiana E. Snyder, daughter of Jonas Snyder and wife Sallie (Flick). Four children were born to them, viz: Rev. Myron O., Laura Alma, Mary Elizabeth, who died in infancy, and Sarah Susanna, wife of Francis G. Lewis, Esq.

His sickness was general debility, resulting from an attack of typhoid fever during the severe epidemic in Allentown in 1886. He died at his country home at Center Valley, Lehigh County, July 2, 1889. He was surrounded during his final struggle by his wife, who with unfaltering devotion ministered to him during his long illness, and his children, who followed him to the dark valley, through which the Lord Jesus, whom he loved and served so long, alone could accompany him.

"Rev. William Rath was a man of more than ordinary ability. Being more or less of a timid, retiring disposition, his real worth and ability were not so well known. In the inner circle of his more intimate friends he was himself and his real merits came there to the surface. He was well versed and grounded in the history and theology of his church and his was a very decided confessional type of Lutheranism. He had no respect for mere sensationalism. There was with him no compromise of the truth for the sake of mere policy or social considerations. As a preacher he was clear, thoroughly evangelical and practical. He was firm and steadfast in his convictions, resolute and determined in purpose and conscientious in every particular. In his habits he was economical and punctual, and in his intercourse with others he was polite and gentlemanly. He commanded respect from every one that had the pleasure of knowing or meeting him. He was fondly attached to his home and family. 'There is no place like home,' he would often say. His children were near and dear to him, and he was much concerned in their temporal and spiritual welfare. He had the great satisfaction of having his only son as his assistant and successor."

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

MYRON O. RATH.

It was the father's wish that when his son was ordained to the ministry, he should assist him in his large field. The matter was submitted to the congregations and acquiesced in by them. For thirteen years, to the time of the pastor's death in 1889, this relationship continued. In 1890 the son was elected to succeed his father in the congregations still served by him at the time of his death. One of these was Salisbury, in which he began his ministry in 1877. Rev. Rath comes from a ministerial family. His father was a minister, two of his uncles were ministers, he has a nephew in the ministry and also a cousin. He is a direct descendent of John Philip Boehm, the great pioneer preacher of the Reformed Church in America. His preparatory education was received in the Allentown Seminary. He is a graduate of Muhlenberg College and of the Theological Seminary in Philadelphia. He spent one year in the German University at Watertown, Wis. He was ordained by the Ministerium of Pennsylvania in St. John's Church, Allentown, in 1877. During the life time of his father he preached in the Churches comprising the charge. He is at present pastor of Jerusalem, Salisbury and St. John's, Emaus, known as the Salisbury-Emaus charge. Salisbury is wholly German; Emaus, German and English. Since 1900 on alternate Sunday evenings he holds services in Mountainville. Going in and out among a people for so many years, and ministering to their spiritual needs with such ability as he possesses, tells its own story. "Moreover, it is required in stewards, that a man be proved faithful."

A history of 170 years lies behind us. During this long time, twelve men have ministered to the congregation. Not to speak of the writer's ministry that ran parallel with his father's for 13 years, that of three may be mentioned as of unusual length: Jacob Van Buskirk, 27 years; Benjamin German, 29 years; William Rath, 32 years. Another remarkable fact is that for a period of 51 years father and son have served the same congregation. Since the building of the present church in 1819, only five ministers were called to the pastorate in the congregation. There are to-day on the roll of membership persons who were confirmed by one of these five pastors, with the possible exception of William German. And there are still a few who have been members under each of the five ministers. These five men occupied the same pulpit until 1884 when extensive improvements were made.

The church is a splendid type of church architecture of the olden time. It is a large stone building, with arched ceiling and galleries on three sides. Originally it had three large entrances. The pulpit was high with steps on each side. Above it was a sounding board suspended by an ornate bracket. Within an oval shaped enclosure in front of the pulpit stood the altar table of similar shape. In the gallery opposite the pulpit was the organ. The benches were of plain boards with straight backs, very uncomfortable. The floors were uncovered. On certain occasions, usually just before communion, after the church had been cleaned, little heaps of white silver sand were dropped, causing some little noise when the people walked across the floor.

The change that was made in 1884, was made at the expense of what was old. The interior was altered; a steeple was built and a vestibule added. Because of these alterations two of the entrances to the church were closed, the galleries were rebuilt, the high goblet shaped pulpit with its "schall deckel" was removed; the straight-back seats with swinging doors replaced by more comfortable pews; the bare floor, with here and there little piles of sand, covered with carpet and matting; the stove, with large drum and long stove-pipe, replaced by a steam heating plant, and the organ by a splendid two-manual pipe organ. In 1899 the fine chapel at the east end of the church was built. It is of brick, and is used for Sunday School purposes. It has three apartments, one for the main school, one for the Bible class and one for the Infant class. A few years ago it was newly painted and neatly frescoed.

The latest improvement to the church property was made in 1908, when the old school house was rebuilt and is now occupied by the janitor. At different times the burial ground was enlarged by the purchase of contiguous property. As far as can be ascertained, 1500 are buried here. The oldest known person buried is Mrs. Elizabeth Bogert, aged 100 years, 1 month and 21 days. In a compact form all available material pertaining to our dear old church has been brought together and forever saved from oblivion. The volume is as complete as the records at hand made possible.

ERECTION OF CHURCH, 1819.

Announcement of Corner Stone Laying

Friedensbode, Allentown, Pa., April 22, 1819.

The corner-stone of the new Salisbury Church for Lutheran and Reformed congregations will be laid on the coming Ascension Day, May 20th, to which solemn services all the friends of Christianity are cordially invited. Rev. Pomp, of Easton, and Rev. Knoske, of Kutztown, will be present on this occasion, both of whom will preach at the morning and afternoon services.

No strong or spirituous liquors will be permitted on this occasion, as is too often the case.

JOHN BOGERT,
PHILIP KLEIN,
Building Committee.

Proclamation Read at Corner Stone Laying.

Inasmuch as the Lord desires to dwell where His name is honored, and has promised to be present where two or three are gathered together in His name;

And inasmuch as no congregation can worthily and properly, and with edification conduct divine service without a church building;

And inasmuch as the Union Church in Salisbury Township, Lehigh County, Pennsylvania, has become old and insecure as to make it unsafe to hold services therein, the congregation therefore being compelled to tear down the same;

And having now no suitable building of their own in which religious services may be held, and yet such building is absolutely necessary to perpetuate our holy religion, especially for the proper hearing of the preached Word, the administration of the holy sacraments, and the furtherance of our own and our children's salvation;

And since both congregations have resolved to erect a new church building on the site of the old, it is deemed necessary to proclaim to the world, the purpose, object and the denominational faith for which this building is erected.

Therefore, we proclaim to the present and future generations, that on this Ascension Day, May the 20th, in the year of our Lord 1819, under the administration of James Monroe, President of the United States, and William Findlay, Governor of the State of Pennsylvania, is laid the corner-stone of a German Evangelical Lutheran and Reformed Church, and that upon the completion of this work it shall be dedicated to the triune God, Father, Son and Holy Ghost for all time; and shall be known as Jerusalem Church.

That it is and shall continue to be a Union Church of the Evangelical Lutheran and Reformed denominations, wherein the Gospel of Christ shall be preached and the holy sacraments administered in accord with the teaching of Jesus and the Apostles, a summary of which is contained in our Catechisms, which are herewith put into the corner-stone that future generations may know what our confession of faith is. If hereafter persons should arise, who deny their Lord, despite God's Word and the Sacraments and their saving truths, we call heaven and earth to witness, that we are free from all blame. The building which we here erect shall be our witness that we revere an evangelical Christianity and desire its furtherance;

That we expect our children and children's children to remain faithful to their church;

That here the aged and the young shall be awakened, encouraged, comforted and fitted for eternity. With such a desire and purpose we can confidently look to God and declare with Jacob: "This stone which we have set for a pillar shall become God's house, a place where He will reveal Himself."

Given in Salisbury this 20th day of May, in the year of our Lord 1819, and in the 43rd year of the Independence of the United States, and subscribed to by the Elders, Deacons and the Building Committee of both congregations, together with the respective pastors.

PHILIP KLINE,
JOHANNUS BOGERT.

And inasmuch as God is a God of order, and desires it especially in the conduct of divine service; and because Christian brotherly love and unity between two congregations may easily be broken, unless bound by some external order and discipline; therefore we have chosen the undersigned persons, who have formulated the following rules, which we have received and adopted as the rules for the two congregations:

FIRST:—On the day the church is dedicated, the Building Committee shall have the right to say how the members of the congregation shall be seated; an order that shall be observed by the vestry, and shall continue until a majority of the voting members shall decide otherwise.

SECOND:—If a vacancy in the pastorate of either congregation occurs, it shall be the duty of the vestry, to meet with the vestry of the other congregations forming the charge if they be so agreed, and elect a pastor, and if he shall receive two-thirds of the votes cast, the vestry shall accept him. If, however, this fails they shall call a congregational meeting when by ballot a minister or pastor shall be elected. And if he receive a majority of the votes cast, the vestry shall accept him, provided that if at any time said pastor is disposed to leave the charge, he shall give three months' notice of such intention. At such an election, however, the Lutherans shall not have the right to vote for a Reformed pastor, nor shall the Reformed have the right to vote for a Lutheran pastor. Nor shall any one not a member of the congregation have the right to vote: namely, no unbaptized and unconfirmed person, nor one who is not a communicant member.

THIRD:—If the pastor or minister does not preach the pure Gospel, or neglects his official duties, or leads a wicked life, he shall be admonished by the vestry, and if that does not suffice, he shall then be accused before his other congregations, and if a majority of the vestry in the charge decides against him, then shall the congregation meet at an appointed time to determine the case. If a majority of the members comprising the parish shall vote against him, he shall resign. However, he must have received three months' notice to that effect.

FOURTH:—The joint vestry shall consist of four (4) Elders and four (4) Deacons. In November of each year one Elder and one Deacon out of each congregation shall be elected by ballot. The term of office is two years. The Reformed shall not vote to elect a Lutheran vestry; nor shall the Lutherans participate in selecting a Reformed vestry.

FIFTH:—If any church officer willfully transgresses any of these rules, or leads an openly wicked life, he shall be immediately removed from office, and another elected in his place.

SIXTH:—The joint vestry shall elect a Treasurer every two years whose duty it shall be to keep an account of all monies received from the Deacons, and whenever requested by them, to hand over both the account book and the money. He shall be elected alternately from the Reformed and Lutheran congregations.

SEVENTH:—The annual accounting shall be held on the fourth Saturday in December. The Elders shall examine the accounts of the Deacons, and the balance handed to the Treasurer.

EIGHTH:—The joint vestry shall have the right to use money in the treasury for the following purposes: The purchase of church furniture and supplies; the keeping in repair of the church building, the school-house, and the graveyard; and the defraying of the expenses of the delegates to Synod.

NINTH:—Sixty days before the Pastor's and the Organist's salary is due, the announcement shall be made to the congregations that on a special day the Deacons will receive money in payment of the Pastor's and Organist's salary.

TENTH:—These rules shall be read annually to the congregations.

In the name of the congregations,

PHILIP KLINE,
JOHANNES BOGERT,
ADAM KLINE,
HENRY MERTZ,
JOHANNES MARKS,
DAVID DESHLER,
MARTIN LAZARUS.

Moravian Musicians at Dedication

From the Moravian Church Diary, Bethlehem, Pa.

Whit Monday, May 22, 1820.

All the musicians following an invitation went to Jerusalem Church (Western Salisbury) in order to assist with singing and orchestral music in the dedication, in the first service of the second day of dedication. Rev. Seidel, who had been asked to do so by the boards of the congregation, spoke with Rev. Pomp, of Easton, to an immense gathering, reckoned between two and three thousand people. Seidel's text was Eph. 2:19-22. During his sermon there was a noticeable silence. This appeared all the more remarkable to the other ministers, because on the day before, the opposite had been the case. This indicated that the word had found entrance into their hearts."

The Reverend Seidel referred to, was C. F. Seidel, a Moravian pastor from Bethlehem, and the Reverend Pomp, was Reverend Thomas Pomp, who from 1796 to 1852 was pastor of the First Reformed Church of Easton.

Thanks of Committee to the Public.

The undersigned Building Committee of the congregations of the new Jerusalem Church, in Salzburg Township, Lehigh County, hereby thank their fellow citizens and in particular those present for their quiet and orderly conduct during the solemn dedication of the above-mentioned church, as well as for their liberal offerings on this same occasion.

OLD COMMUNION SERVICE, BAPTISMAL DISH AND SCHLATTER BIBLE

"May God through Jesus Christ bless the donors for their deeds of kindness here in time and there for eternity." Amen. Soli Deo Gloria.

At the afternoon session of the Reformed Synod (Coetus), September 19, 1752, the President, the Rev. Michael Schlatter, announced that he received 800 Bibles from the Synods of North and South Holland, and that 500 of them were folio Bibles, printed in Basil in 1747. That these 500 Bibles were to be considered as a present from the Classis of Amsterdam "for those seeking their salvation." In reference to these folio Bibles the Coetus took the following action:

a. That one be placed upon every pulpit in which regular ministers officiate.

b. Since there are many well-to-do people who pay gladly for a Bible, it was resolved, that 40 copies be set aside to be sold at 10 shillings apiece to church members who are seekers after truth and well-to-do.

The congregation is in possession of one of these now famous "Schlatter Bibles" and should make some provision for its preservation as well as for its records and documents, or place them in the archives of some historic society.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Lights and Shadows.

The first church is said to have been a small log structure and to have been without a stove. The floor was of stone, and hewn logs served as seats.

The second structure, according to tradition, was a frame building. The date of its erection is unknown. It became insecure and was demolished in 1819. The old wine glass pulpit of the present structure was commonly called "Es Biwie Nest." This pulpit was rather high and it is alleged that on one occasion a visiting clergyman, being small of stature, entered it to preach and that his head was barely visible to the audience. One of the deacons noticing the embarrassing position of the minister went out and brought in an armful of bricks and placed them on the floor of the pulpit.

It is said that one of the janitors, while mowing the cemetery found the many headstones a great inconvenience, so he took a heavy axe and broke many of the headstones and also drove some into the ground. We are also told of one of the ministers who was in the habit of "pounding the Bible," and on one occasion badly cut his hand by bringing his fist down on the brass clasps, instead of on the soft sheepskin, and that he immediately produced his pocketknife and cut off the leather straps to which the clasps were fastened.

The south-east corner of the old cemetery is still known as "Es Insehe Eck" (the Indian corner). In this corner a number of Indians lie buried. Some of the older folks still remember having the places pointed out to them along the Little Lehigh, where several Indian families had their little wigwams, long after the tribes to which they belonged had removed to more remote sections of the State, and that they themselves selected this spot for their burial.

Name of Congregation.

The various names which were applied to the congregation in its early history render it at times difficult indeed to determine whether a contemporary reference alludes to the congregation or not. We find this during the first fifty years of the congregation's existence: "The Reformed Congregation in Macungie," "The Reformed Church on the Little Lehigh," "The Reformed and Evangelical Lutheran Church on the Little Lehigh," "The Little Lehigh Church," "The Schmaltzgrass Church," "The Salzburg Church in Whitehall," "The Salisbury Union Church," "The Union Church of Western Salisbury." The explanation is that they are various local geographical names. The region drained by the Little Lehigh was at first spoken of as Macungie and later a part of Macungie was organized as Salisbury Township, which, however, the German settlers pronounced and wrote Saltzburg. And when in 1759 a union church was erected in the eastern end of the Township the one was called the Eastern Salisbury Church and the other the Western Salisbury Church. Then again the church is built on a bluff overlooking the Little Lehigh River, and the long, narrow defile through which this little river flows was often referred to as "Die Schmaltzgass."

Heinrich Roth.

Heinrich Roth appears to have taken a leading part in the organization of the Reformed congregation and to have opposed the union movement of Zinzendorf, and accordingly deserves special mention. He came to Pennsylvania in 1733 and was probably of Swiss origin. He was born June 6, 1688, and died in the year 1754. The exact time of his location in the vicinity of the church is not definitely known, but in 1738 we find his name recorded as owning a tract of land in the Macungie region. To him and his wife Catharine, born in 1693, were born the following children: Anna Eve, born 1720; Catharine, born 1724; and Francis, born December 29, 1721. Francis was twice married, the first time to Anna Magdalena, a daughter of Edgius Grimm. She was born July 22, 1727, and died November 22, 1747. The second time he was married to Elizabeth ————. She died in 1776. The children of Francis were: Johanna, born October 12, 1748, who was married to G. F. Knauss; she died in 1817; Henry, who in 1770 resided in Hampshire County, Virginia; Elizabeth, married to Abraham Lyder; she died August 23, 1804; Margretha, Catharine.

Massacre of Frantz Family.

Tradition also locates the grave of the massacred Peter Frantz family in the old cemetery, a short distance north of the middle window of the church. This cruel Indian massacre occurred during the French and Indian War. One of the children, a young girl, was carried away into captivity. This girl was afterwards returned and often spoke of her experiences as a captive. Mrs. Daniel Everhard, a great grand-daughter of Peter Frantz, who escaped by having accompanied a neighbor to some market place, gives the captive maiden's account of her capture as it was frequently rehearsed in the family circle during her girlhood days.

"The Indians approached the house from the creek nearby, when one of the girls of the family, then nine years of age, was cleaning iron pots. She was taken captive and immediately hurried away. Some of the band remained behind and cruelly massacred the parents and two children and set fire to the buildings. One of the children, a little boy, had hid himself in the barn and perished in the flames. His charred remains were found among the ashes and were buried in the same grave with the rest of the family. The Indians in charge of the girl moved toward the north with the greatest possible haste. At the end of the first day's journey they had reached the summit of a high hill. Here they rested and built a fire and prepared a meal. The meal consisted of a few herbs and some kind of a soup of which they all partook and which they also forced their captive to eat. After this evening meal they all laid down in a circle around the fire to sleep. The captive was placed inside of the circle. She, however, did not sleep and was longing for an opportunity to escape, but she made no attempt, knowing well that if recaptured she would be immediately put to death. She longed for an opportunity to commit suicide, wishing she could cast herself down over the rocky cliffs over which they had climbed to this place.

"The second day's journey northward was not so hurried. At noon they halted and rubbed her skin with bear oil and set her in the sun on a rock. This treatment was repeated for several days and was probably intended to darken her skin, so as to make her appear more like one of themselves. The journey northward was continued for several days until their home was reached. Here she was adopted as a member of the tribe and lived among them for a period of nine years. During all these years she was ignorant of the sad fate of the rest of her family.

"Often she would retire to some secluded spot in the forest and weep and wish that she could go home to her parents and brothers and sisters, and would sit and imagine how anxious her parents were to know of her whereabouts.

"She said she always knew when the Indians were about to set out on their expeditions 'to burn and to kill' because they would paint their faces and put feathers on their heads. Upon their return she always examined the scalps which they brought back in order to ascertain if any one of her family or friends had been murdered. One day one of the chiefs brought her a lock of hair and told her that it was the scalp of her father. She was grieved indeed, but upon a careful examination she found that the hair of the scalp was red while her father's was black. She was thus convinced that her father was still living and daily awaiting her return. One day the chiefs upon their return from some meeting told her that she would now be returned to her home. She was glad indeed and happy in the thought of being reunited with her family. But, alas! what did she find? The old home in ruins and ashes and a family grave. She, however, to her dying day refused to believe that it was the same band of savages who took her captive that also massacred the family and burned the buildings. Several years after her return she was married to Nicholas Woodring. Peter Frantz, Jr., the other surviving member of the family, was born in 1752, and was married to Anna Catharine Bachman. He is said to have been a teamster in the Continental Army. To him and his wife were born one child: Anna Catharine, who married George Keck. They were the grand-parents of Mrs. Everhard, the author of this pathetic episode; Peter, who lived in Whitehall; Magdalena, who married Solomon DeLong; Heinrich; Mrs. Leonard Mage; and Sarah, the wife of Mr. Eckert."

Organists.

BY S. K. WETZEL.

The first organ was put into the church in 1836. Prior to that time it is not recorded whether there was a chorister or not. A Mr. McKnab was the first-known organist. How long he served is not found recorded. Mr. Beck followed Mr. McKnab. When he was elected is not known, nor how long he served. Mr. Beck, in addition to his work as organist was a school teacher in the church schoolhouse, and gave music lessons to some students. Paul Keck served as chorister to Mr. Beck.

Solomon Klein, the next organist, was a son of Daniel Klein and his wife Salome, nee Bogert. He was born in Salisbury Township, Lehigh County, Pa.,

THE ORGAN

October 4, 1813. He was married to Lydia Henninger. How long he served as organist is not recorded, serving, however, until 1844. He also was a miller and conducted the establishment now known as Bieber's Mills. He died March 10, 1882.

Daniel Klein, a brother of Solomon Klein, the former organist, was born in Salisbury Township, Lehigh County, Pa., August 25, 1821. He received his musical instruction from Miss Frances Eisenbrown, a teacher in the church school, and from Mr. Beck, a former organist. He was married to Hannah Mareks. He was elected organist in 1844. Joseph Keck served as chorister during Mr. Klein's term. He resigned in 1880. Besides being organist he was a prosperous farmer. He died December 2, 1901.

Robert A. Benner, the successor of Daniel Klein, was a son of Thomas Benner, "a veteran school teacher and organist of Jordan Lutheran and Reformed churches of South Whitehall Township, Lehigh County, Pa." Robert was born in the same township, county and state where his father served as organist. He received his musical instruction from his father, and married Miss Ellen Stephen. He was elected as organist in 1880 and served till 1886, when he resigned and accepted the position as organist at the Egypt church. Besides organist Mr. Benner was a tombstone cutter. Some of the tombstones in the church's cemetery are his handiwork.

Morris S. Bieber, a son of Sylvester Bieber and his wife Tevilia, nee Klein (daughter of Solomon Klein, one of the former organists), was born in Salisbury Township, Lehigh County, Pa., January 3, 1859. He received his musical instructions from Rev. Winche, a Moravian minister, of Emaus. He was married to Miss Ida R. G. Dech. He was elected organist in 1886 and served till 1891, when he resigned the position. Mr. Bieber is still a member of the church choir and serves as organist to the present incumbent when there are services at both churches in which he is serving.

Edward F. Strauss, the present organist, is a son of Benjamin Strauss and his wife Sarah, nee Kline. He was born in Lower Macungie Township, Lehigh County, Pa., June 13, 1874. He began his musical studies at the age of seven years, under the instruction of Prof. C. A. Mareks, of Allentown. He was elected organist October 1, 1891. Mr. Strauss was married to Miss Minnie Kline. He is also organist of the congregations of St. John's Church, Emaus. He is also a school teacher, and gives instruction in music to a number of students.

These persons afterwards united with the Brethren Congregation at Emaus, hence the record of their birth and baptism in the Moravian Archives.

Rev. Daniel Schumacher, who became pastor of Salisbury Lutheran congregation in 1759, found a congregational record with some entries. We cannot tell how many, because some of the first pages, including the title page, are missing. He turned to almost the middle of the book and opened a record. It is quite probable that the entries he found had been made by the Reformed pastor. Rev. Schumacher apparently regarded his coming to Salisbury as marking a new epoch in the history of the congregation. We infer this from the way in which he opens the record of his ministrations.—J. B. CONCLUSION.

Here the committee's labor ceases, and we bring this long and interesting work to a conclusion. The collection of the material for this volume has been a fascinating employment, and the committee is happy to be able to present a reasonably accurate account of the history of Old Salisbury and so much of the congregation's records, though conscious that their work is in many respects incomplete and unsatisfactory. The committee is, however, encouraged in its publication by the fact that their researches in certain periods of the congregation's history has not proven unsuccessful, and that they have been able to rescue certain facts and records from oblivion and to present them to the congregation in permanent form. When these facts and records are once printed and distributed no carelessness nor even fire can ever lose or destroy all the copies published.

The book is now sent forth, with all its imperfections, in the hope that these precious records may be preserved and that they may help to awaken the members of the congregation to a consciousness of their precious historical inheritance, and to inspire them with greater love for their church and Master.

"When they that feared the Lord spake often to one another: and the Lord hearkened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before Him for them that feared the Lord and thought upon His name.

"And they shall be mine, saith the Lord of Hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels, and I will spare him as a man spareth his own son that serveth him. Then shall ye return and discern between the righteous and the wicked, between him that serveth God and him that serveth Him not." Malachi 3:16-18.

"And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened; and another book was opened which is the book of life; and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their work." Rev. 20:12.
